JAPAN GETS BOMBING BILL

Dr. A. E. Morgan Ready To Fight Removal Moves

Chairman Of T. V. A. Will Contest President's Right To Remove Him

LONG SIMMERING ROW NEAR CLIMAX

Dr. Morgan Refuses To Answer Questions Of President And Declines To Resign

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 22. The courts ultimately the supreme court will be called upon to rule on President Roosevelt's right to remove Dr. Arthur E. Morgan as chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority, scheduled for formal announcement at 2:30 this afternoon.

Chairman Morgan, who "does not choose to run away" from a fight, even though it be with the president of the United States, was back in his Yellow Springs, O., home today prepared to contest in every legal way Mr. Roosevelt's power to oust him for continuancy, insubordination, obstruction of a federal agency's functions and failure to substantiate "grave and ill-toned charges of dishonesty and want of integrity" he preferred against fellow TVA directors.

At Boiling Point

Thus, the long simmering row that has split the TVA wide open approached a boiling point. Prompt repercussions on Capitol hill were certain. A debate was in prospect in the house this afternoon that promised to produce oral fireworks unless leaders slip on the gag. The senate was preparing an independent investigation of the long battle be-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

A profusion of vari-colored crocuses, which border the walk and lawn of a Wilmington avenue residence, have caused much comment from passing motorists.

* * *

Pa Newc noticed several farmers in the New Wilmington road district plowing, early this morning.

* * *

Dear Pa Newc—The robin mentioned in your column of Saturday night, is an Albino. The white feathers are caused by the lack of pigments in the blood, this weakens the feather colors. This white coloring is noticeable in birds that have more than one color of feathers, there are more robins that are Albino than any other birds. Your Saturday night article brings word to me from Mrs. T. C. Hartzell of 133 Englewood that she has had an Albino robin that has nested in trees around her home for the past five years.

Signs of spring activity are to be noted on every hand. New York Jury Acquits Mrs. Ryan In Slaying

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 22—Wan, girlish Mrs. Patricia Ryan was acquitted early today of the killing of her patrolman husband, Michael J. Ryan, and returned, a free but broken woman, to the side of her two babies for whom she wept in the long, dramatic weeks of her trial.

A sigh swept over the packed courtroom as the jury of nine men and three women returned with the verdict at 12:50 o'clock this morning after five hours and 54 minutes of deliberation.

A few minutes later, the 21-year-old mother half fell into a chair in an ante room, with the frenzied scream that she still loved the man she killed.

"Oh, Mike! Mike!" she cried, "I love you."

She rose from the chair and threw herself into the arms of the matron, Mrs. Maud Curley, as a child would seek the protection of a mother.

Continue Search For Victims Of Raft Crash

(International News Service)

MUNCY, Pa., March 22—The dreary search for six persons missing in the crackup of Pennsylvania's "jam raft" continued today as survivors of the disaster were called to testify this afternoon at a coroner's inquest.

Authorities placed at seven the death toll from the log raft's fatal collision with a railroad bridge pier in the Susquehanna river near here. One man died after being pulled from the river. Six others were still missing in the murky waters of the Susquehanna's west branch.

Veteran lumbermen who survived the crackup hoped to carry on the tradition of old-time raftsmen "never to give up their logs" and complete the 200-mile voyage from Bellnap, Clearfield county, to Harrisburg. Permission to go from Dr. Thomas C. Brandon, Lycoming county coroner, was all they awaited, according to E. D. Tonkin, chief sponsor of the venture.

Dr. Brandon issued a number of subpoenas, holding the crew and some of their 48 passengers for today's hearing.

"We're ready to go on a half-hour's notice" said Levi Conner, of Glen Campbell, Indian county, brother of 82-year old Harry Conner, chief pilot of the raft who is among the missing. "In the old days a riverman never left his raft. I want to finish this voyage, just for old time's sake. That's the way Harry would want it."

W. C. Van Scoyoc, 66, Philadelphia, was the one known victim. The six persons missing were Dr. Charles F. Taylor, dentist, Montgomery; Thomas Proffitt, Chester, Universal newsreel cameraman who "went down cranking" in the smashup; Harry C. Conner, chief pilot; Malcolm McFarland, Trenton, N. J., and W. W. Hailey, Bradford.

Youthful Slayer Gets Life Term

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 22.—Francis (Curly) Brookman, 22, today was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for killing his mother, Mrs. Mary Brookman Neeld, and his uncle, Paul Lustig.

Brookman has pleaded guilty to murder and showed little emotion after Judge William H. McNaugher fixed the crime as first degree murder but announced he would give the young man leniency and spare him from the electric chair. Brookman pleaded he killed both in rage after again failing to persuade his mother to leave Lustig and return to their home in Washington, Pa.

"Have you anything to say Brookman before sentence is imposed?" Judge McNaugher asked.

"No," the defendant replied.

When he started back to his cell, his lower lip quivered as he bit it nervously.

Lucile Mary Lee Edgar, 117 Sheridan avenue, is confined to her home by illness.

Body Of Missing Man Recovered

Torso Of Crawford Peterson Is Washed Ashore At North East On Lake Erie

FIND NO CLUES TO MANNER OF DEATH

Recovery of the body of Crawford Peterson, aged resident of Crawford county, who has a daughter residing near New Wilmington, and who disappeared last November, was effected a day or two since, when the body was washed ashore at North East, Pa., near Erie, almost 100 miles from where it had originally disappeared, it is learned.

Peterson had been missing since November 13. Several days later the lower portion of an arm was found in the harbor at Ashtabula, which was identified by his sons, Marvin Peterson, of Sharpsville, and H. L. Peterson, of Geneva. A few days later part of a leg was found.

It is believed that Peterson's body was mangled by the propellor of a large lake boat, but the manner in which he met his death is still a mystery. It is not known whether the body got into the water by accident or foul play.

The body was brought to the J. E. Graham funeral home in Sheakleyville, Pa., where funeral services took place this afternoon with burial in Peterson cemetery, Fairfield township, Crawford county.

Three Executives Of Oil Companies Held By Mexicans

Seized At Tampico As "Hostages" By Mexican Workers Claiming Back Pay

FEARS ARE FELT FOR THEIR SAFETY

Mexican President Seeks To Give Reassurance To Business Of Nation

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, March 22—President Lazaro Cardenas sought today to reassure Mexican business shaken by his decree expropriating the properties of 17 American and British oil firms valued at $500,000,000.

The president made his statement after three executives of the American owned Huasteca Oil Company were seized at Tampico as "hostages" by Mexican workers claiming back pay.

Cardenas said business had nothing to fear and that he had confidence in the attitude of the mining industry and other enterprises which had feared they might also be confiscated.

To Stabilize Currency

At the same time, however, he declared his seizure of the petroleum industry was an "imperious necessity." He added steps would be taken to stabilize Mexican currency.

"No other dispositions will be dictated which might affect the confidence of the country in other businesses, property, deposits or investments," he said.

"The government intends to protect them in conformity with the laws.

"The executive in my charge makes these declarations to dissipate fear which has unfoundedly

She is seen with him as they boarded a plane in New York for Hollywood. Miss Wenzel's career was halted by an automobile accident. She is said to have received a substantial sum in settlement.

Tommy Farr And Fiancee Sight Seeing In Hollywood

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, March 22.—Firmly convinced that marriage will aid him in his tistic career, Tommy Farr, British heavyweight, was taking in the sights of Hollywood today, accompanied by his fiancee Eileen Wenzel, beautiful New York show girl.

Farr, a much-changed man since his defeat at the hands of Max Baer in New York a few days ago, was settled in a hotel here, while Miss Wenzel was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Nils T. Granlund.

Instead of the "I was robbed" chant, Farr had this to say of the fight with Baer:

"Max is a family man now and being a father has changed his entire attitude. He fought like a man who was determined to take care of his family when he beat me. If it did him so much good, it may be my remaking."

Farr scoffed at the idea of becoming a movie star.

"With a mug like mine, never," he laughed.

He said he and Miss Wenzel, one of the most beautiful of all the Ziegfeld follies girls, would probably be married in a month or two and would take a honeymoon trip to London.

Present Japan With Claims For Panay Sinking

TOTAL AMOUNT IS NOT MADE PUBLIC

Claim For Three Oil Tankers Also Destroyed Is Included In U. S. Bill

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The American government today presented to the Japanese government a statement covering claims for death, personal and property injuries to American citizens and property when Japanese airplanes bombed the United States gunboat Panay and three oil tankers in the Yangtze river.

Four Americans were killed in the bombing. The note outlining claims was handed to the Tokio foreign office today by American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew. The note contained pointed references to the Japanese offers of Dec. 14 and Dec. 24 to pay all necessary indemnifications.

Figures Not Public

Total figures were not made public by the state department, but officials said that the figure was arrived at "after careful investigation and computation of these losses."

The bombing of the Panay and the three oil tankers by Japanese airplanes at the time strained Japanese-American relations to an extreme danger point.

The Panay and the oil tankers were destroyed, and in addition to the four American deaths, one newspaper correspondent of Italian citizenship died. Presumably, the Italian government will handle claims for the latter.

CHICAGO, March 22—Chicago's March "heat wave" today shattered old warm weather marks for the second day in a row.

Today, thermometers showed a reading of 73 before noon, breaking the previous 1907 record of 71, and they threatened to go into the high seventies before nightfall.

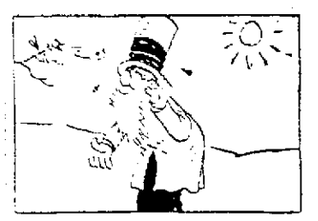

Thunderstorms were expected to bring relief.

So I smashed my fists with my neighbor McGloom he's all right in a sort of a way, but I wish he would smile now and then just a bit, it's warm, over seventy today.

New Baltic Crisis Is Feared

Lithuania Is Deeply Stirred

Report Entire Cabinet Has Resigned As Result Of Surrender To Poland

POLISH TROOPS MASSED ON BORDER

(International News Service)

KAUNAS, Lithuania, March 22.—Fears of a new Baltic crisis spread today amid reliable reports that the entire Lithuanian cabinet submitted its resignation owing to public indigation against the government's surrender to Poland's ultimatum.

There were unconfirmed rumors, however, that President Antanas Smetona refused to accept the resignation until Premier Jonas Tubelis returns from a trip to Switzerland.

Line Up New Government

Meanwhile, the president was believed hastily striving to line up a new government and thus avoid possible fresh friction with Poland.

It was believed War Minister General Stays Dirmantas may succeed Tubelis if the government's resignation is finally accepted.

Meanwhile, Lithuanian students entered a 10-day period of mourning over Lithuania's acceptance of the Polish ultimatum. Other sections of the population demonstrated their "humiliation" because the nation bowed before Poland's superior armed might.

Report Troops Massed

In addition, there were reports that some 50,000 Polish troops and scores of war planes were massed near the frontier despite an order from Warsaw to begin withdrawal of these forces.

Military circles in this country scented a chance for the army to gain a more direct influence upon the government and thus stiffen Lithuanian resistance in the forthcoming negotiations with Poland.

Should the army succeed in engineering the appointment of General Dirmantas as premier, it was believed Poland might adopt more drastic measures which would once more endanger European peace.

Another possible source of trouble was seen in a Warsaw report that Poland might seek to break Lithuanian reliance on Soviet Russia military aid.

THREE EXECUTIVES OF OIL COMPANIES HELD BY MEXICANS

been created by rumors mistakenly interpreting the steps which the government was obliged to take in the petroleum case.

"Abandonment of the exchange rate is transitory."

Cardenas invited the petroleum companies to file claims for indemnization.

Fear For Executives

Meanwhile, fears were held for the safety of the three executives held as "hostages" in a terminal across the Penuco river from Tampico. They were Edward Borrego, American citizen and refinery manager for the Huasteca concern, Benito Loyola, the company's chief counsel, and Frederico Yenny, personnel manager.

Their captors declared they would not be released until the workmen are paid the sums they demand from the Huastcca Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Corporation of New Jersey.

Borrego sent an appeal to the American counsel to bring about his release.

James Armstrong, American consul at Tampico, reported the case to United States ambassador Josephus Daniels and it was believed diplomatic representations would be made on behalf of Borrego.

Meanwhile amid an exodus of American and British Oil company employees from the fields, the foreign companies planned a concerted campaign to seek a court injunction nullifying the expropriation decree.

Government authorities hoped the president's statement that the suspension of foreign exchange dealings is "transitory" would halt the decline of the Peso and the consequence rise in prices, which resultd in hoarding of food.

tween Chairman Morgan and his two associates, David Lilienthal and Dr. Harcourt Morgan.

Removal of the venerable bald eagle of Yellow Springs from office was only a matter of hours. Yesterday, Dr. A. E. Morgan once and for all defied President Roosevelt, refusing to answer questions, declining to resign and challenging the executive's authority either to remove or suspend him.

Congressional leaders were agreed that suspension or ouster of Dr. Morgan will have no effect on the proposed congressional investigation of TVA.

Speaker Bankhead said today the investigation would go forward. He also expressed the opinion President Roosevelt had the legal right to remove Morgan—a question upon which legal experts differ.

Final Opportunity

Up until 2:30 this afternoon, Mr. Roosevelt has given his "very old friend" a final opportunity to recant. But the embattled chairman made it rather plain before leaving Washington that he had no further communication with the White House in mind.

Senator George W. Norris (R) of Nebraska, author of the TVA act, was one of those demanding A. E. Morgan's removal rather than suspension. The senator explained only removal would make it possible for the president to fill his place on the board.

House debate will be touched off when the Gilbertsville, Ky., dam conference report is brought in. TVA originally asked through the budget for $2,800,000 to start this project. The house cut it to a little over $200,000 but the senate restored the budget figure. Conferees accepted the senate version and Rep. Clifford Woodrum (D) of Virginia, will ask the house to reverse itself this afternoon.

This move will precipitate a battle immediately. Led by Rep. George W. Johnson (D) of West Virginia, and others, a group of house members is prepared to argue that no TVA projects should be voted additional money until the Morgan-Lilienthal-Morgan row has been thoroughly aired by a congressional committee.

President Roosevelt meanwhile prepared to enforce the sternest disciplinary action against a high federal official with frank statements of regret. He recalled that "I have had great respect and admiration" for the Antioch college president and engineer.

Dr. Glenn Frank Looms As G. O. P. Presidential Hope

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 22.—The Republican National Program committee having adjourned here, one question was uppermost—and it had nothing to do with policy making.

It concerned the possible presidential aspirations of Dr. Glenn Frank in 1940.

True, the program chairman made no reference to such aspirations while guiding his committee through its organization session. Nonetheless party observers were inclined to think that Dr. Frank himself, as presidential candidate, may soon become one of the policies of a revitalized G. O. P.

Many Qualifications

Many qualifications stamp the former president of the University of Wisconsin as eligible material. His career as educator, liberal thinker, lecturer, newspaper writer and now party rejuvenator militate in his favor, adherents believe.

Dr. Frank was first linked to the national presidential situation five or six years back, when his voice, pleading for liberal standpoints, was as one crying in a wilderness of party conservatism.

With a Republican swing to the west for White House material, Dr. Frank finds himself well placed geographically as he is from Missouri.

Edits Farm Publication

He has a means of vote-seeking, should he determine upon such a course, in the farm publication he is now editing. His proficient speaking both on platform and over the air, coupled with a flair for turning out well rounded phrases, cannot be ignored.

Dr. Frank showed delicacy to suit the occasion when, during the policy session here, he broadcast the committee's objectives to the British Empire. No hint of private aims entered his speech.

When, however, the radio announcer subtly put things in that light in calling him "one of the leading figures of American politics," Dr. Frank at once told the microphone:

'Not A Politician'

"I am not speaking officially for the Republican opposition. I am not in politics. I am not a politician, but appeal as a layman in the field of party politics."

How long he would be permitted to remain cloaked in this personal obscurity in the face of a mounting following became a ready subject for discussion.

Dr. Frank's prolonged delay in making official announcement of his acceptance when invited to head the Party Policy committee some weeks ago was recalled.

The possibility that he might have been undecided between two courses, the other of which would have been a personal entry into the presidential field, was discussed by observers.

N. Y. U. TO TEACH MOTHERS HOW TO RAISE CHILDREN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—How to get Johnnie to take that afternoon nap . . . how to get Willie to eat his spinach . . . how to induce little Mary to pick up her playthings and not to twist an arm off that new doll she got for her birthday.

It's all part of a new curriculum offered by New York University beginning in March for worried mothers whose Johnnies, or Willies or Marys may have developed some of those harassing traits.

On the theory that university facilities should be used in solving domestic problems as well as in tackling the arts and sciences, New York University has offered its new child guidance courses in two parts: "The First Six Years," and "Story Telling."

Mothers who can get away from the kitchen for 10 mornings will learn about the child's mental, social and emotional growth in the first course. The second will emphasize the stimulation of youthful minds through poetry, pictures, humor, realistic stories and fanciful tales. Both will be directed by a professor of education in cooperation with an outside expert who will be guest instructor.

Says New Deal Taxes To Stay

Undersecretary Of Treasury Magill Says "No" To Revision Appeals

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A flat "no" was the Roosevelt administration's answer today to demands of the nation's business for drastic revision in new deal taxation.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Roswell Magill, appearing before the senate finance committee, clashed with business and the committee itself by rejection of appeals for repeal of the corporate undistributed profits tax and modification of the capital gains levy in the new revenue bill.

Even revival of the principle of the "third basket" tax proposal—sky-high imposts upon closely-held or family corporations—was suggested by Dr. Magill, 42-year-old, mild-mannered tax expert who served in the treasury department under Republican secretaries Mellon and Mills.

Tax Government Securities?

Bemoaning the loss of revenue to the government because of tax-exempt governmental securities, Dr. Magill said he thought the supreme court would now uphold a statute to tax income from future issues of government securities, that is, a law permitting the federal government to take income from state and local bonds and giving the states power to tax federal bond issues.

While observing there was "some doubt" on whether a constitutional amendment would be necessary to plug that tax loophole, Dr. Magill said:

"However, I believe that the supreme court would uphold such a statute, although they might not have done so several years ago."

Reminding the committee that President Roosevelt is insistent that there be no net decrease in the amount of revenue through the pending revision of the tax bill, Dr. Magill said the treasury department does not expect business conditions to be as prosperous this year as they were in 1937 and 1936.

APOLOGIZES FOR SPENDING $65.50 TO PREVENT WAR

(International News Service)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 22.—An apology by a government employe for spending $65.50 to prevent a war was discovered in the files of the New Mexico library here recently.

The apology was written and signed by Alex G. Irvine, United States Indian Agent, in 1874 and was addressed to the central government office. Thee letter offered excuses for spending money on powder and shot and a dozen butcher knives.

Irvine explained he bought the war materials to appease a tribe of Apaches on the warpath against another tribe. The letter said, afterwards, everyone went off on a buffalo hunt.

Mr. And Mrs. A. E. Kerr Have Golden Wedding Day

In the course of afternoon and evening, yesterday, 175 friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kerr on the Ellwood road to bring wishes to the couple on their golden wedding anniversary.

Guests came from Akron, Pulaski, Youngstown, Steubenville, Franklin, Greenville and Butler for the happy occasion and Mr. and Mrs. Kerr were busy receiving throughout the day and evening. Although they had not planned at first to have open house, and had announced only a family dinner, no one enjoyed the occasion more than they.

A nicely prepared buffet luncheon was served in the dining room in the afternoon by Mrs. Harvey Brenner, Mrs. Milton Marshall, Mrs. Frank Clinefelter, of this city, and Mrs. Fred Kemp of Youngstown, and in the evening by Mrs. James Moorehead, Mrs. Allen Ingals, Mrs. Harold Wharton, Miss Mary Bigley, Miss Miriam Clinefelter, Miss Laura May Martin, Mrs. Frank Kelley, Miss Zoe Sayer of Franklin.

The Misses Shirley and Edrye Kerr, only granddaughters of the honored couple, helped in the serving both afternoon and evening.

A huge wedding cake, decorated in gold and white, served in the evening, was the gift of a niece, Mrs. Steven O. Lewis of Akron, O. Mrs. Lewis gave an original reading that was greatly appreciated by the guests.

At 6:30 p. m., at a full-length table in the living room, a dinner for forty was served. The guest places were marked by small gold wreaths with "50" in the center and the names of the guests written in gold. The table was tastefully decorated in gold and white. In the center was a lovely crystal epergne holding three tall tapers and Token roses, while at the ends of the table there were tapers in crystal prism holders. Gold metal ribbons and green foliage added to the pleasing effect —(as did Old Sol, who sent his cheerful first-day-of-spring beams in on the happy assemblage.)

A surprise feature of the evening was the serenade given Mr. and Mrs. Kerr by an erstwhile orchestra comprised of some twenty or thirty friends.

Many gorgeous flowers had been sent by relatives and friends, as had letters and telegrams of congratulation.

Mrs. A. Wayne Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kerr, made the arrangements for the affair, assisted by others. The honored couple have two sons, W. E. and Fred M. Kerr, of this city, and seven grandchildren, all of whom participated in the affair.

WOMAN PROBATION OFFICER IS SPEAKER

Mrs. Beula Russell of Wilkinsburg, public relations chairman for the Pennsylvania Federation of Business and Professional Women, was an interesting guest speaker at the meeting of the local B. P. W. club Monday evening at the Y. W. C. A.

Although Mrs. Russell told something of the public relations program of the state federation, the most of her address was devoted to her work as probation officer in the juvenile court of Allegheny county, a position she has had for the past nine years. While she told of the work in a simple, matter-of-fact way, the talk was full of startling, poignant facts. Mrs. Russell supervises dependent and neglected children, as well as so-called delinquent boys and girls.

In the audience, as special guests of the occasion, were Mrs. Jack Dunlap, wife of the Lawrence county probation officer, and Mrs. Minnie McKibben, local police woman, whose work is similar to that of Mrs. Dunlap. During the question period following the address, Mrs. McKibben made a comparison of some of the problems meeting both counties.

Mrs. Russell was accompanied here by Miss Grace Truby, president of the Wilkinsburg B. P. W. club.

Dinner was served to fifty members and guests. Among the guests were represenatives of the three business girls' clubs of the Y. W. C. A—Mrs. Mildred Porter of the Blue Triangle club, Miss Nadyne Connor of the Junior Business Girls, and Miss Mary Aloe of the Square Circle. The special guests were introduced to the local B. P. W. president Miss Mary Vandivort, while Mrs. Russell was introduced by the local public relations chairman, Mrs. Hazel Boyd. Mrs. Boyd and Miss Mary Bigley had arranged the meeting program.

They have been constantly dividing their services, and one in particular, the case of an elderly lady just on the edge of the city, has been cared for as though adopted into their little family.

At their meeting last night held in the home of Alice Warner on Wallace avenue, an interesting story was related concerning this party. The usual business was taken up and Mrs. Sid Lockley was elected president, filling the vacancy left by Miss Wirsing, who has been transferred to another city.

In serving refreshments, the hostess was aided by her sister, Margaret Warner.

They had as guest speaker, Jack Gerson, who gave a most enlightening and educational talk on "Russia." He emphasized the fact, the dire state that any nation finds itself in, when they do away with religion. Other interesting phases were enfolded by Mr. Gerson, that held the close attention of his audience.

Miss Elsie McGeorge led the devotional period, and president, Margaret Brown had charge of the business period, when items of importance were given consideration.

During the social period that ensued, the hostess was aided in serving refreshments by Jean McClure. A new member, Jane Eichholtz, was given a cordial welcome into the organization at this time.

COST OF A NATION'S FUN

IT HAS long been no secret that it costs money to have fun. But who would suspect that something over eight per cent of the national income goes for having good times? This, however, is asserted by Julius Weinberger, a research expert. He sets this forth in the current number of The Public Opinion Quarterly, a publication of the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs.

Annually, Weinberger states, the American public spends more than $4,000,000,000 for recreation. The latest figures he gives are for 1935, when $4,331,000,000 was so expended. This was one-third more than the federal government then put out for recovery and relief and about 8.12 per cent of the national income. He predicts a jump to 1 per cent soon.

Vacation travel is the principal way in which we spend our recreational money, Weinberger declares, such expenditures having increased fourfold between 1909 and 1935. The automobile has been chiefly responsible, he adds, commenting that fundamentally the desire of the individual for a wider and more intimate participation in the affairs of the world at large has been responsible.

Well, fun comes high, but we must have it. All income tax work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. We are willing to pay, it seems. It will, naturally, occur to many that perhaps fun didn't formerly cost as much as it does now. But then there were no automobiles, and to run them and throw parties costs money.

Summer vacations consisted of packing the family off to grandfather's farm while the head of the house lived on canned goods until he, too, got a shot at the simple life.

But on with the fun!

TARIFF GIFTS TO BRITAIN MEAN LOST JOBS

Beautiful dreams of promoting world peace and friendship by lowering tariff protection for American workers cannot stand up against such hard facts and figures as are being presented at the hearings on the proposed trade agreement with Great Britain.

Millard D. Brown, of Philadelphia, speaking for the wool textile industry, makes plain where the heaviest burden will fall. Labor will bear the brunt. This is necessarily so, since the chief element of cost in wool manufacture is labor.

American wage-earners cannot compete with those in other countries getting one-third or one-fifth as much. The argument that the British trade agreement, as planned, will benefit industries in Michigan or Illinois by increasing their exports, does not appeal to textile workers in Pennsylvania. To them this is a question not of patriotism but of pay envelopes. And they are right.

An arrangement for promoting more imports of non-competitive goods from Great Britain in exchange for more exports from this country would encounter little opposition. But why pick on cotton and wool textiles and compel them to make sacrifices when these industries are among those now feeling most keenly the pinch of the recession, rightly asks the Philadelphia Inquirer?

In ten years the woolen and worsted goods industry has piled up an aggregate deficit of nearly $100,000,000. Faced by disastrous competition from abroad, the manufacturers can't meet the emergency by cutting prices and accepting smaller profits, for the profits aren't there.

The alternatives are cutting wages or shutting up shop. It would be small comfort to those made idle to be told that industries turning out other lines of goods were thriving under the arrangement with Great Britain.

Why should the United States government go out of its way to hurt any home industry? This is not Mr. Hull's purpose, but it would plainly be the result of any further opening of the door to cheap British textiles. And thousands of workers in Pennsylvania would be the first to feel it.

THE BROADER ISSUE

If and when congress institutes an official inquiry into the tangled affairs of the TVA, some attention may well be paid the broader issue as to whether the bickering, jealousy, friction and suspicion that have come to characterize the vast power experiment are not the inevitable results of governmental intrusion into fields heretofore reserved for private enterprise.

The latter issue is really the crux of the TVA controversy. What happens to individual members of the board now in charge of the huge light and power project is not nearly so important as what happens to American policy with respect to utility developments.

Certainly the recently publicized developments within the TVA have not been encouraging for advocates of public ownership and operation. The burden of truth has very definitely shifted to the proponents of government domination, and congress will fail to provide the requisite amount of light on a fundamental issue if it confines itself too sharply to the immediate evidences of non-cooperation within the power colossus of the Tennessee Valley.

And now we have the Friends of McNutt of Manila. So it's going to be that kind of a campaign?

When his business stops attracting new customers, nothing but the power of habit is holding the old ones.

Britain's Prime Minister sees no need of continuing the League of Nations. Still, you don't just discard a corpse in cold blood.

Stalin is deeply incensed over the murder of some of the old-time Bolsheviks. Murder, under the Soviet regime, is a prerogative reserved exclusively for the dictator.

"Japan scatters her blessings on China and gets no thanks," a puzzled Tokio editor tells a coast gathering. This apparent ingratitude may be explained by the fact that Japan's peculiar variety of manna leaves China cut and bleeding.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD GIVES UP

Normally the child of one or two years holds fast to what he has and tries to appropriate everything else that appeals to him. An occasional child, however, may learn later to offer little or no resistance when other children, even of his size and age, take possession of his things.

In a good many letters I am asked about this child who too freely gives up his things to others. A sample: "My five-year-old Dorothy goes out with her tricycle and soon another child is riding it. Dorothy gets her wagon next, but a few minutes later it is in the hands of other children, too, and she is looking on or shovelling in the sand pile."

Obviously this child has more toys than the other children. She can avoid encounter with them and buy their temporary favors by giving up to them one toy and turning to another. Any child who possesses many more playthings than his playmates is almost sure to be imposed upon by them; nor is it good for them.

Older Child Dominates

Within the family an older child may lord it over a younger one or dominate by clever strategy. Sometimes a very good-natured child will be for years the easy mark among his playmates, even of the same age, running errands for them, doing for them many things they do not like to do themselves—a very hard problem to deal with. In the home we might intervene and restrain the dominating child; yet he may frequently outwit us; and outside the home the situation is still harder to control. Long, patient effort to protect this child and to encourage him to look after himself is desirable. What makes such problems still more difficult is our eagerness to cultivate unselfishness.

Then there's the child over-submissive to other children because of physical fears. "My little boy of three," a mother writes, "is large for his age, but it seems difficult for him to take his own part. He has a habit of crying a good deal when things don't go to suit him or when some other child hits him, but he won't slap back."

Such a child has gained protection through his crying. Once he knows no one else will fight his battles for him he will learn to fight in self-defense, especially after he has enjoyed a few successes. Sometimes a clever parent can set the stage so he will succeed.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THEATRICAL

William Harris, producer of many of the greatest play successes New York has known in recent years, is toying with the idea of producing plays in Los Angeles. He is impressed by the fact that the actors are there and many of the best of them have time off between pictures so that they would be available and the playwrights are in Hollywood.

He hasn't decided yet. He is looking the ground over very carefully. But he has gone far enough to make sure that every requisite for the production of new plays is in Southern California and the plays could be produced cheaper than in New York.

Harris knows that timing is everything in theater. His first play was "The Yellow Jacket." For twelve weeks it did not play. Erlanger believed in it and carried it on for three months more—but still it did not pay. So it was shelved. Then a man named Coburn got it from Harris for production in colleges

TRAIN THOUGHT

I have seen you from the train
To the city speeding on
Time and time and time again
Till from sight we both are gone.
And I've wondered rushing by
Of that dream-look in your eye.

Do the fields on which your back
Has been turned so weary you
That a stretch of railroad track
Holds the thing you'd like to do?
Would you trade that patch of wood
For a paved street if you could?

Would you rather see the lights
Of some theater in town
Than the stars on summer nights
On a still pond shining down?
Boy—I wonder after all,
Is that fence your prison wall?

HINTS and DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:13. Sun rises tomorrow 6:00.

London women are said to be rebelling against wearing the new style of hats designed in Paris, which are flat pan-cake affairs. Some resemble plates, covered with fruit and flowers. Why not decorate some of the old worn-out crockery around the house instead?

"Not at all. I spent it all on my wife and mother-in-law."

It is claimed that an analysis of religious faiths in 1,340 United States colleges indicates that almost ninety per cent of them have a definite religious preference. They don't seem to express it after graduation, however, according to the census of church members.

You can estimate a man's fortune in a hick town. For each additional $10,000, he becomes 10 degrees more secretive.

Good resolutions, like a Japanese promise, can't survive changed conditions. If made while you are sick, they are binding only while you are sick.

Final proof of changed times: A wife resenting her husband's officious prying when he asks where she has been.

Being the wife of a state motor policeman has its compensation. An Erie woman wife of a state copper, was given a verdict of $6,000 in a suit against two Pittsburgh men over an automobile accident. The defendants didn't even appear.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

DEAR MISS MARKEL—My sun parlor, living and dining rooms are closely connected. Please suggest harmonizing color schemes for each, mentioning your choice of color for furniture which I shall soon purchase for the sun parlor and living room. My dining room furniture is mahogany. There is a red brick fireplace in my living room. Suggest color for wood trim and built-in bookcase. READER.

Answer—Your sun parlor may be a riot of color, for this is a spot where you may let yourself go! My suggestions for this room are: Light green walls, either painted or papered . . . a taupe rug, rose or rust furniture, green Venetian blinds exactly matching your walls . . gold draperies. If you choose rose furniture, lampshades of a rose, green, or gold tint will carry out the color scheme of the room.

Living room: Green walls, the same as those in your sun parlor, or French ivory if you prefer. A sand-color rug will tone down your red-brick fireplace. Furniture: Seal brown divan, one apricot and one brown chair. If another chair is required, green will be very attractive with ivory walls.

Dining room: Walls, apricot; rug—green and rose figured; draperies—gold matching those in the other two rooms.

Wood trim and bookcase of white or ivory will be most attractive with these suggested furnishings.

If you have an interesting painting, over the mantel is an ideal spot for it. If you have none, a vase or a clock will contribute an interesting point of interest. Use either one or the other, but not both.

When 1940 Election Comes Discuss Who Will Be Hero New Deal Foes To Worry Too

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Columnist

TWO MEN sat talking at the table next to mine in a large hotel. They seemed to be business men.

"In spite of all the attacks on President Roosevelt, his popularity remains," said one man.

"Yes," responded the other. "If an election were held today, he would win by a majority nearly as large as in 1936."

But the worker and the unemployed are beginning to become uneasy. They see what they believe to be "compromises" and defeats.

For example, the changes in the tax bill which will relieve corporations of severe burdens (and they ARE severe burdens) are not popular with the mass. They will be especially unpopular next year when more will have to be taken from the lower income brackets.

Part of that was through compromise, but the major part of those changes came through downright rebellion in the lower house of congress against the president. He may be "excused" on the basis, but both Democrats and Republicans will have a serious time explaining in 1940 why taxes in lower brackets are higher. Does that mean a third party could win? Hardly.

* * *

LEADERS

Suppose a popular vote were held on leaders of the various countries with outstanding leadership?

Hitler would win easily in Germany, Mussolini in Italy, Stalin in the Soviet Union.

Anthony Eden looms as a popular leader in England. The Socialists will find a dominant leader in France, if Leon Blum does not become that man.

But who in the United States, if not Roosevelt? That, more than the European situation, is the uppermost question on the tongues of American politicians. They are worried. The majority of men played up by newspapers have no mass appeal. The reason, they admit, is plain—the mass is stronger New Deal than is President Roosevelt now.

Europe now wonders over past mistakes.

It will be recalled that, 10 years ago, a conservative France, quite different from the present radical France, refused to permit a customs' union of Germany and Austria to go through. The people of both Germany and Austria were very much for it. But the old spirit of Clemenceau revenge remained in France.

Would there have been trouble today if that union had been permitted then? Bruening, a Catholic, was chancellor of Germany then and of course the Austrian government was Catholic. It would have been a congenial union, and it would have been one of moderate democracy.

Today, Nazism, an overpowering political religion, takes everything without asking. Would Nazism have appeared anyway, as a symptom of world change?

Hitler knew more than the old politicians of Europe: that nothing in static, that one cannot be forced back into the old scheme of things, even by the most powerful weapons.

By the same token will Nazism not pass in favor of a new and vital democracy? Can people live in a false state of high emotion and economic inflation any length of time? Doesn't truth catch up even with Nazis?

BIRDS

By J. W. Neyman, Ph. D.

There are between seven and eight thousand kinds of birds in the world and about twelve hundred of these are in the United States. More than half of these are migratory birds. Nearly ninety-eight percent of these are useful birds. Some of course are more useful than others. The tropic region is the great bird paradise. These birds are found in great varieties and in more brilliant plumage than in any other part of the world. The birds of the tropics do not migrate. There are three centers of birds in the United States. The Atlantic States and the Mississippi Valley, the Rocky Mountain Plateau and the Pacific Coast. Bird life differs to some extent in these three centers.

Go where you will, except in the great deserts, you will find birds to greet you. Some will cheer you by their songs, and please you by their graceful forms and amuse you by their oddities.

The poet Longfellow wrote of birds:

"Do you never think what wondrous beings these?
Do you never think who made them, and who taught
The dialect they speak, where melodies
Alone are interpreters of thought?
Whose household words are songs in many keys,
Sweeter than instrument of man e'er caught."

The north is the home of migratory birds. Here they raise their young. They go south to escape the cold weather of winter and to secure food.

A hundred years ago the United States was quite small as to population. Birds were much more numerous than now. They lived in every patch of woodland, in the thickets along the roads, and in fields, and they prospered. As the population has grown and the farms have extended, the natural haunts of birds have disappeared and as a result the number of birds have diminished. A few live in the open country, such as the meadow lark, and have increased in number. But it is a well known fact that some kinds of birds have become extinct and others are in danger of becoming extinct. According to Dr. Hornday, in the past seventy years bird life has dwindled seventy-five per cent. Thirteen species of migratory birds have become entirely extinct and thirty more are traveling the same road. Sixty years ago the wild pigeon, or passenger pigeon, was more common than any other bird, but today it is extinct. The wild pigeons were fairly large, graceful and beautiful and they were the prey of the hunter. They were killed by the hundreds of thousands. Various zoological gardens had some of the birds, but they did not thrive in confinement and the last one died in Cincinnati. O. over twenty years ago. Though a reward of $1500 was offered for a pair, none could be found. The extinction of the seagulls was threatened by the plume hunters and also the egrets, which were killed at nesting time for their aigrettes. The heath hen of Massachusetts was by special effort saved.

It is strange that such good friends to mankind should be slaughtered. If all birds should die, it would soon be impossible for a human being to live on the earth for the insects on which so many birds feed would so increase as to destroy all vegetation. The world would become a barren waste. The birds should be appreciated and protected not only for their esthetic value but for their economic value as well.

TODAY Is The Day

Copyright 1937 Central Press By CLARK KINNAIRD

TUESDAY, MARCH 22

Once Upon March 22nd.—Contrary to a legend built up and perpetuated chiefly by persons without discrimination or distinction themselves, true greatness rarely goes unrecognized by contemporaries. If a great artist, writer or other practitioner of the arts or professions dies poor, it may be because he wasn't interested in making money or because he loved to spend it.

Anthony Van Dyck, who was born in Antwerp 439 years ago today, began painting at 10; at 16 he had pupils; at 19 his works were being ascribed to Peter Paul Rubens. He was paid large sums for his work but his lavish life kept him in financial difficulties—a circumstance that helped perpetuate the legend that great artists starve in garrets.

Van Dyck was a man of many loves. One of his best paintings is in a little country church because he was captivated by the beauty of a farm girl. Remorseful over their affair when she found she was but a "passing fancy," she induced him to paint an altar piece for the edifice.

Van Dyck was not religious; the reason so many of his paintings have religious themes is simply that the best customers for art in his day were persons desiring to make donations to churches.

Van Dyck did not scorn any commission, and many a social climber won immortality by the simple process of hiring the Flemish painter to do a portrait. Van Dyck never saw many of those persons he painted or etched. He worked from sketches of them made by assistants or painted them from descriptions.

Another beauty, not his wife, inspired the celebrated "Herminia Putting on Clarinda's Armor." When superceded in his affections she furiously attempted to cut off the right hand which had given the world so many masterpieces.

Only one of his illegitimate offspring seemed to inherit his talent. Daughter Justiniana, born eight days before his death and married at 12, likewise became a painter.

Recently Formed Recreational Council Will Discuss Playgrounds For City

PLAN MEETING WEDNESDAY EVE

An open forum meeting of the Recreational Educational Council, recently formed civic body, has been planned for Wednesday evening in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium, when city's playgrounds will be discussed.

Attorney Joseph R. McFate will preside, and the speakers will include Mayor Charles E. McGrath, Congressman William H. Dunlap, Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, and Don Marvin of the WPA.

It is the hope of the organization to provide playgrounds this summer in every section of the city, which will be the principal theme of discussion at this meeting, and every citizen interested in this work is invited to attend and take part in the discussion.

J. F. Mechlin Taken Ill Enroute From Brothers Funeral

J. Farley Mechlin In Jameson Memorial Hospital; Returning From Funeral

J. Farley Mechlin of 123 North street, while returning with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lois Mechlin, from the funeral of the latter's husband and his brother, George D. Mechlin, from Washington, Pa., was taken suddenly ill, on Monday.

The Mechlins were returning from services conducted at a cemetery in Washington, Pa., when J. F. Mechlin became quite ill. He had suffered a stroke when thirty-five years old. His illness yesterday was believed prompted by the shock of his brother's death.

The nature of his illness however, is not yet determined. He will remain in the Jameson Memorial hospital for a few days, for observation.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

With his wife as his main support, Coburn produced the play at colleges for several years. Then they decided to give some matinee performances of it in New York. It made such a hit it had to run both night and day for a long run. It probably is the only play in American stage history to have such a comeback.

This man has produced forty plays in New York of which seventeen were hits. They included "Twin Beds," "The Misleading Lady," "East is West," "Abraham Lincoln," "Mary Dugan," "Outward Bound," "The Criminal Code and "The Greeks had a Word for It." He is noted for good and artistic productions. He says no one ran succeed with bad plays. "The play's the thing," above all, and the cast must fit the play. When he was about to produce "The Criminal Code" he met a young man on a park bench. The young man's confidence impressed him. The young man believed he could design the scenery for anything. Harris gave him a chance. His sketches looked good. Harris had them checked and they were approved. But when they went to Newark to try out the play they couldn't get most of the scenery into the theater. That was Friday. Harris and Martin Flavin, the author, sat up all night, Flavin rewriting the play so that the action which had to be thrown out in the scenes they couldn't show could be told in the scenes they could show. Think of doing that to your brain child at the last minute, dear author. Saturday and Sunday the cast had to learn the rewritten play. Monday they opened successfully. After a week's run they moved to New York, where they could use all the scenery and give the play as originally intended. The young designer was Albert Johnson, now looked on as one of the best.

Daylight Savings Time Is Headache For Tavern Owner

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 22.—Daylight saving time had a bitter enemy today in Edward I. Kaufman, a tavern owner.

Kaufman was robbed last September 8 of $207 at 12:15 a. m., (DST). A Lloyd of London insurance policy covered his holdup losses between 10 p. m. and 12 p. m. (local standard time).

Kaufman brought suit to collect, alleging that 12:15 a. m. was actually only 11:15 p. m. (CST) and that central standard time was the "local standard time" in Chicago.

The judge, however, upheld the insurance company, that daylight time is local standard time during those months when central standard time is not.

'Y' Gets Ready For Its Gala 'Open House' Friday

The Young Men's Christian Association will hold its annual spring "open house" celebration Friday evening, March 25 between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock. A similar evening program a year ago attracted over 500 persons.

Featuring the night affair will be a lobby display of the 100 or more bird houses which schoolboys and girls of New Castle have entered in the city-wide Bird House Building contest sponsored by the Knights Templar Phalanx fraternity of the "Y".

That night all the houses will go on exhibition at 7, and shortly after City Forester Owen Penfield Fox will judge them. Winners will be selected and prizes presented by officers of the Phalanx group. All the houses will be placed in local parks.

Nearly 600 special invitations have gone out to parents of "Y" boy members and other friends of the association.

Included on the evening program will be separate meetings of the Neshannock, Rose Avenue, Thaddeus Stevens and Aiken Gra-Y clubs, all of which will be open for parents' observation; a tumbling demonstration in the gym staged by boys between 12 and 14 years of age and a swimming pool exhibition by midgets and cadets.

In the banquet hall at the same time will be an exhibition of hobby work turned out at Camp Fred L. Rentz and in the winter hobby classes.

The program officially opens the registration period for the 1938 season at Camp Rentz.

The public may inspect the entire building between 7:30 and 8:30.

General Secretary R. L. Meermans and Activities Director Henry MacNicholas are supervising the affair while John D. Thompson will direct the boys' department affairs and William "Butch" Winter the physical department events.

DETROIT CLAIMS IT IS 'CLEANEST' CITY IN NATION

(International News Service)

DETROIT, March 22—The "cleanest" city in the nation is the title claimed by Detroit, after it was assured that there are no strip tease artists performing in public places here.

A committee of ten from the Michigan Associated Theatrical Agents and Producers called on Police Commissioner Heinrich A. Pickert to refute charges that strip tease dancers performed in beer gardens on nights when only favored customers were allowed to enter. The committee assured Pickert that strip teasers were booked only for private performances, and that Detroit was the nation's cleanest city.

Said Pickert:

"I am just conceited enough to know that is true."

Farms Of Lawrence Co. Will Be Photographed By Use Of Airplanes

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22 - Farms of Lawrence, Beaver and Butler counties are about to have their pictures taken from airplanes.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration plans to have aerial maps made of the three counties this year, that agency announced today. The AAA hopes to award contracts for the picture taking before winter.

The maps will be used by the AAA for the purpose of checking performance under agricultural conservation programs. Already contracts have been awarded for thousands of miles of mapping. Completion of all projects contemplated for 1938 would make available to the AAA from all sources aerial photographs of approximately 1,300,000 square miles of land.

Under the method specified by the AAA, flights will be made over Lawrence county and other areas to be photographed at an altitude which will result in pictures at a prescribed scale. The scale of each picture is checked by the AAA and enlargements are made so that the exact acreage of each farm and each field can be determined with such precise instruments as planimeters and rotometers.

By using aerial photographs which display such landmarks as buildings, fences, hedges and roads, experienced checkers can determine speedily the area of each crop planted in each field without the necessity of remeasuring the field.

Consequently the aerial photographs constitute a permanent record for farms where permanent or natural boundaries have not changed. Such changes whenever made, are readily noted by checkers and corrections can be made on the aerial photographs by land measurements. Reflying is necessary only where widespread changes have been made in the crop patterns of an area.

'Beware Of Marihuana' Is Warning To Parents

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 22—To all mothers and fathers in Pennsylvania the state today issued a calm warning and a plea for cooperation.

"Beware of marihuana," it said, in effect, "before it is too late."

In the wake of Gov. George H. Earle's announcement of a concerted drive against the deadly drug, Michael V. McFadden, chief of the state law enforcement officer of the drive against narcotics, added this this explanatory warning:

"Marihuana is one of the world's most deadly drugs. Murder, suicide, insanity are its foster-children. It is an ancient drug—thousands of years old and once known as hashish—but only recently has it spread to occidental states.

"It was brought to Pennsylvania by CCC workers from the South in 1933. Today, unless checked, it presents a grave menace to the commonwealth, especially to its young, a menace whose evil potentialities are incalculable. I cannot overestimate the danger from this drug."

The marihuana weed, from which the drug is obtained, is grown without cultivation. Its sale brings the illicit dealer a tremendous profit.

"All that is necessary is to sprinkle the seeds about and when fall comes it will grow" said McFadden. "Even the wind, blowing the seed to another field, helps to propagate the evil. After it is grown, it is dried then ground into powder, rolled into cigarettes, and it is already for use.

"It is sold by thousands of merchants throughout the state. Every part of the state is fertile territory for its growth. It provides something mysterious, a thrill, which the young are eager to try out. In that lies its greatest danger to those of school age to whom the drug is sold.

"Continued use of the drug brings insanity and homicidal impulses in which whole families are wiped out in an orgy of murder. Under its influence the user, losing control of himself, will kill those dearest to him. One boy thus killed his mother and three sisters, while under its effects.

"Last year we destroyed 200,000 pounds," McFadden revealed. "To the illicit dealer that represents a fortune for marihuana cigarettes are sold for 25 cents each and a pound runs as high as $55."

To bring this danger under control, McFadden said that, above all things, public cooperation, bolstered by stiff jail sentences is necessary.

New Trial Asked In Mercer Case

(International News Service)

MERCER, Pa., March 22.—Counsel for Edward Williams, 61-year-old barber, on Monday asked a new trial for him on a charge of killing Nick Floros, Greenville tavern keeper.

The action deferred for a month at least pronouncement of the death sentence on Williams.

Judge George H. Rowley, receiving the motion offered by Defense Attorney Robert Johnson, stated the hearing on it might not be held before the first Monday in May.

On March 17 a jury convicted Williams of first degree murder without recommending mercy, making the death penalty mandatory.

Three witnesses testified at the trial they saw Williams shoot Floros, firing four bullets into his body after the innkeeper fell to the floor. Williams said he was drunk and "everything a blank."

ANOTHER UNSOLVED KIDNAPING

Charles Mattson

June Robles

Melvin Horst

Peter Levine

Kidnaping of Peter Levine, and its unsolved mystery, recalls other unsolved kidnapings of the last few years. The Levine boy was seized from the vicinity of his home at New Rochelle, N. Y., and reportedly held for $30,000 ransom. Nothing has been heard from him since. Almost 10 years ago, Melvin Horst, 4, of Orrville, O., disappeared. He was believed kidnaped. That was in December, 1928. Several persons were arrested, several "confessed" killing the boy, and the investigation dragged over several years, but the case never has been solved. In April, 1934, June Robles, Tucson, Ariz., girl, was seized and later found alive chained in a cave in the desert. Late in December, 1936, Charles Mattson, 10, of Tacoma, Wash., was kidnaped. His body was found two weeks later near Everett, Wash. Several other kidnaping cases, also, remain unsolved.

No Depression for Grand Opera on Tour

Grace Moore

Among the chief "drawing cards" in opera this season

Grand opera is expected to break attendance records on tour this season. The Metropolitan, following completion of its New York season at the end of this month, goes to a few other cities. And advance sales indicate that all previous attendance records will fall. Cleveland, which year after year has smashed attendance records for a week's run, due to its immense auditorium, has Boston as a competitor this year. Last year's attendance record in Cleveland was 66,604 for eight performances. Cleveland is the only city in the United States where the municipality itself joins with citizens in guaranteeing a grand opera season. There never has been a deficit. Seats can be obtained for as low as $1. Among the stars on tour with the Metropolitan this year are Kirsten Flagstad and Lauritz Melchior, whose singing in the Wagnerian operas has been hailed for three seasons now as the greatest within our time; Helen Jepson and Grace Moore, popular American stars, and a new "sensation" from Poland, Jan Kiepura, handsome young matinee idol, probably headed for movie stardom, also. Others include such favorites as John Charles Thomas, Nino Martini and Giovanni Martinelli. Then there are the successful American newcomers, Thelma Votipka and Donald Dickson.

From a group of 14 who conferred with him on the problem of staving over the railroads during the recession, President Roosevelt selected these three men to draft an emergency railroad aid program. The three, busy studying plans, are W. M. W. Splawn, chairman, and Joseph B. Eastman and Charles D. Mahaffie, commissioners, of the interstate commerce commission. Recommendations dealing with RFC loans, refinancing and economies are being studied. Splawn estimated 30 per cent of the American railroad mileage is in bankruptcy and said other railroads are threatened with receivership.

Victims Of Raft Wreck Treated To Prevent Illness

Mrs. D. C. Schnebly Receives Letter Telling About River Adventure

Mrs. D. C. Schnebly of Newell avenue received another letter this morning from her brothers, R. D. and A. W. Tonkin, now in Muncy, Pa., at the scene of the tragic lumber raft wreck of Sunday.

According to the letter all of the victims of the accident who survived were immediately treated with anti-pneumonia serum to prevent any serious illness, as a result of the icy plunge into the river.

R. D. Tonkin, one of the sponsors of the trip, stated in the letter that the trip will be resumed as soon as possible if the authorities do not put a halt to it. Tonkin will take the position at the helm of the raft if it continues its journey to Harrisburg. Harry Connor, the other sponsor, who was at the helm at the time of the accident, is still missing and is believed to be dead.

All surviving members of the raft crew are joining with the searching parties in an endeavor to locate the missing persons.

Mrs. Schnebly came originally from Cherrytree, Pa., and is a member of a pioneer lumber family in that region. She relates that she has ridden on rafts down the Susquehanna river many times when she was a young girl.

Four women were aboard the raft when it crashed at Muncy, Pa., but all escaped without injury, it was learned from Tonkin's letter.

DODGE ENGINEERS SCOOP THE TRUCK WORLD WITH 19 "ECON-O-MIZERS"

FRED M. ZEDER, Vice-Chairman, head of engineering of the Chrysler Corporation and guiding genius of the engineering staff that has revolutionized many old ideas of truck construction.

FRED L. SAGE, Chief Truck Engineer, responsible for feature after feature in Dodge trucks that contribute so much to their brilliant performance and operating economy over the years.

E. P. LAMB, Assistant Chief Truck Engineer, design expert, influential in designing many of the Dodge truck advancements that insure Dodge truck owners of long and trouble-free service.

TODAY'S truck buyers are face to face with a new and startling advancement that means an utterly new kind of truck performance. No truck in the world has such a reputation for dependability as Dodge. Now, along with all the other features that have contributed to Dodge reputation for extra goodness...Dodge engineers have incorporated 19 "econ-o-mizers"...19 definite, proved money-savers on gas, oil, tires, upkeep.

Test one of these new Dodge trucks, compare it against others, and you will immediately notice a big difference. In handling ease, in riding comfort, in appearance, you will find this truck a revelation! Then borrow the little "gasometer" gas-testing machine from your Dodge dealer and make the quick, simple gas test... this test has actually shown many others how to save up to $95 a year on gas alone.

When you check on today's Dodge truck features and note the genuine hydraulic brakes; real safety-steel cab; exhaust valve seat inserts, four piston rings instead of the usual three ...the extra value in these Dodge trucks is so obvious that you think of them as being "worth more"..."higher priced"...but the fact is that today's Dodge trucks are priced down with the lowest! Ask your Dodge dealer to send a truck for you to try today.

Switched To Got 19 Econ-o-mizers—"Before I bought my new truck I did quite a bit of looking around. In the end I switched to Dodge trucks to get those 19 'econ-o-mizers.' Now I'm saving $8 to $10 a month on gas alone."—M. D. Latz, New York.

Saving $95 On Gas—"I switched to a Dodge truck with those 19 special 'ECON-O-MIZERS.' Now I am saving real money, up to $95 this year in gas alone."—John C. Swing, Chicago.

War Would Have Backwash Here

Even Though United States Keeps Out Effects Would Be Felt In This Country

FALSE BOOM WOULD DEFLATE

Central Press
Washington Bureau
502 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—In the event of another war, throughout most of the rest of the world, keeping physically out of it is not the only problem the United States would have to consider.

Doubtless we would have been somewhat better off now if we had not actively participated in the last great conflict. We would have saved all the American lives that were sacrificed on European battlefields. We would not have had the recurrent issue of veterans' allowances to puzzle us. We still would have a lot of money that our powder and shot cost us.

But our economic backwash from that war would have been terrific, anyway.

* * *

WAR BOOM COLLAPSE

Suppose another war, like 1914-to-1918's, with Uncle Sam on the side-lines, however.

Is it imaginable that American agriculture, industry and commerce would not be enormously boomed by it? They were thus boomed by the last war, before we went into it. We simply wallowed in profits—or what looked like them. War millionaires popped up in every direction. Farmers were affluent. Wages skyhooted. It was lovely—temporarily.

Now, assume that we never had taken a hand in that struggle, otherwise than as profiteers.

Does anyone argue that that boom would not have burst with unprecedented violence when the strife was over? Naturally it would have been deflated like a toy balloon, with a match put to it. Maybe it wouldn't have been as bad as the depression we did experience, but it would have been a-plenty.

* * *

Of course, if statesmen could read the future, our own should have adopted measures, in 1914 or 1915, to counteract, as far as possible, the effects of what manifestly and inevitably was coming.

Yet, to expect so much probably would have been to demand too much of human wisdom.

The same situation prevails today.

It is not so much a question of keeping out of the threatened second world war as of escaping the economic aftermath of it—even if we are non-participants in it.

* * *

WOULD IT WORK?

If this country had (which God forbid) a government like Germany's or Italy's it might prescribe certain precautionary regulations.

It could (war having broken out abroad) limit our industrial and agricultural production to our own home requirements, preventing us from having huge over-production to disorganize us with the return of peace conditions elsewhere. Perhaps it could guarantee American post-war "normalcy", as President Harding called it.

Under a totalitarian regime it could be done theoretically.

The United States plus the Latin Americans is sufficiently self-sustaining to live independently of Europe, Asia, Africa and insularity.

But that such a program would work practically! Every natural economic law is against it.

* * *

BACKWASH ENGULF US?

True, we have legislation now prohibiting extensions of credit to defaulting foreign peoples.

Exports of munitions to foreign belligerents are banned.

Exports of non-military supplies to them are prohibited except on a "cash-and-carry" basis.

But it is conceivable that, with an outside world war raging, we could be corked up tightly enough to insure us against the after-economic results of such a struggle?

Maybe we could keep out of it.

But the backwash?

Three Kidnapers Are Executed On Gallows For Crime

West Virginia Exacts Penalty

Eleventh Hour Effort Of One Of Trio To Save Pals Is Failure

AGED MISSIONARY KIDNAP VICTIM

(International News Service)

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., March 22—Three coffins containing bodies of the kidnapers of the late Dr. James I. Seder, 79-year old dry leader and former missionary, served as grim reminders to the underworld today that the "snatch" racket does not pay in West Virginia.

In the first executions under its new "Lindbergh" law, the state hanged Arnett Alan Booth, 46; John Travis, 25 and Orville Adkins, 25, all of Huntington and all ex-convicts. It was also West Virginia's first triple execution since 1924.

Kidnaped Last November

Dr. Seder was kidnaped last November, held prisoner in an abandoned mine near Huntington for 11 days and contracted pneumonia which caused his death four days after a farmer found him wandering on a hillside. His abductors unsuccessfully sought $50,000 ransom.

While Adkin's arms and legs were being strapped the trap gave way and he plunged eight feet to the concrete floor. His head was cut but he did not lose consciousness. With Travis looking on, guards lifted Adkins back up through the aperture and repaired the gallows.

At 9:03 p. m. Travis and Adkins dropped to their doom. Less than 13 minutes later Dr. J. E. Offner pronounced both dead. Then Booth was ushered into the death house and a single trap was sprung a second time at 9:36 p. m. he was pronounced dead at 9:50 p. m.

Bore No Malice

Travis and Adkins, from the gallows, assured officials and spectators they bore no malice against no one. Booth mumbled an almost inaudible prayer, asking God to "make it easy on the mothers and other members of these boys' (Travis and Adkins) families."

Booth failed in an eleventh hour attempt to save the lives of his two youthful companions by accepting all blame and petitioning Gov. Homer Holt to spare Travis and Adkins. He said he induced them to participate in the kidnaping while they were drunk.

Relatives claimed the three bodies which were to be sent to Huntington for burial. Only Travis was visited yesterday by his family. Among his callers was the bride he married last November while the search for Dr. Seder was at its height.

Camera (Pretty Candid, Too) Snaps 'Y' Fun

SMILING HOST IN Y. M. C. A. POOL

It's a jolly time when any Y. M. C. A. swimming class descends on the sparkling white "Y" pool for a splash of a half-hour or so, but this group, merry though it was when Mr. Camerman arrived, paused long enough to let his lens record the fun! The group is typical of many which enjoy the pool daily, and typical, too, of the groups which will play an active role in the big "Y" membership campaign which takes place March 29 and 30. Some of those in the photo are now at work on teams engaged in advanced solicitation. The drive will seek 800 members and $1 000 cash.

Gives Slant On Florida Affairs

Mrs. Kate C. Humphreys, of St. Cloud, Fla., in a letter to The News, gives local residents a slant on affairs in Florida at the present time. Her message follows:

"St. Patrick's Day was ushered in with a long-delayed rain which refreshed things considerably, although it was a little hard on the golfers and shuffleboard players. Corn and melons had reached a stage where continued dry weather would have caused a severe loss. Pasture lands were also benefitted, the cattle industry being one of the big industries.

"Earlier in the winter I was the guest of the Coopers, of near New Castle, on a visit to the Carroll ranch, owned by a Cleveland man. It is in the St. John's river section. It is an idealistic place, six miles back from the highway. It is different from the western ranches in that the home and outbuildings are surrounded by lawns, acres in extent with plenty of flowers in the background. Back of it all is a cabbage palm grove. The men of the outfit were out in the saddle for the day.

"The usual stir, presaging the spring trek northward is on. Mr. Houston has been here for several days, trying out the fishing with the McKays and Yohos. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nessle are in the trailer camp for a few days before going on to Fernandina and then north. H. E. Tillia is also there in his trailer, while he attends to some business here, Mrs. Tillia and son are with him. Will Elliott of Slippery Rock and his cousins, Mrs. McNees and Miss Blackburn, came down from Orlando last week to call. Ralph Cooper of Dixie Inn, has just returned from a trip to Fayetteville, N. C., and is completing arrangement looking towards a return to St. Cloud next season.

"Mrs. W. H. Cooper and the boys have moved into their new house, left uncompleted when Mr. Cooper went north about the last of February. Mr. and Mrs. Sam White, of Zelienople, here since early fall, are taking advantage of the lake bathing. Mrs. Longshore, who has many friends here, is planning to return to New Castle soon. The fishing has been unusually good, with A. E. and Mrs. Yoho getting their full share. Bass season closed the first of this month and will be closed until May 20.

"Considerable interest is being shown in military planes at the aviation field at Orlando. They are assembled for the maneuvers which will be carried out at Tampa during the next ten days. Ten of the "flying fortress" type are stationed there as the runway at Tampa field is not long enough to afford them to take off. A fleet of small planes coming down from Michigan were forced down by bad weather, it was reported.

Get at the Cause of Constipation!

You know that constipation often gives you that dopey, sunken, bogged down feeling. Why not get at the cause and fix it?

If you eat what most people do—things like bread, meat and potatoes—the chances are all that's the matter with you is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean what you may think. It's a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines that aids elimination.

If this is your trouble, what you need is a dish of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need, plus Nature's intestinal tonic vitamin B_1 and iron.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and see if the old world doesn't look a lot brighter! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

CHEWTON

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kingston of Knox visited with friends here Saturday.

Miss Alice Campbell of New Castle spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Campbell.

Mrs. Nancy Douthitt has returned home after spending the past week with friends in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Oren Aiken and children of New Castle visited Sunday with friends in Chewton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Guy and daughter Evanell of Ellwood City visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Guy, Jr., on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Allen and daughter Carol Jean of Painesville, O., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Solsberg.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Conner and daughters Georgia Lou and Linda Mae of Bellevue visited Saturday with Mrs. Eliza Conner.

The mid-week prayer circle of the Chewton Christian church will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly on Wednesday evening at 7:30.

ACCIDENT VICTIM LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mrs. Gertrude Thomas, of Pittsburgh, who suffered injuries on the Butler road, several miles east of the city, when the car of her husband skidded off the highway, about a month ago, has been discharged from treatment at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Custodian Of Court House Is Dead At Oil City

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., March 22—Alonzo (Lon) Baker, 61, custodian of the Venango county court house for 16 years, died at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Miller, East Seventh street, following two years' illness.

He was employed in the Venango county oil fields for a number of years, later going to Ohio, then returning to Pennsylvania where he took over his duties at the court house. His son-in-law, Benjamin Miller, succeeded him as custodian about a year ago.

AROUND CITY HALL

Speaking of bicycling, Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell has requested cyclists to obey all traffic regulations and made public a list of warnings issued by the Cycle Trades of America, as follows:

1—To obey all traffic regulations, traffic lights, one-way streets, "Stop" signs and hand signals.

2—To ride in a straight line and not weave in and out of traffic.

3—To have a white light in front and a danger signals on rear for night riding.

4—To have a satisfactory signaling device to warn of approach.

5—To give pedestrians the right of way.

6—To look out for cars at crossings and pulling out of parking places.

7—To keep your bicycle in good condition.

8—Not to carry another person on your bicycle.

9—Not to hitch on vehicles.

10—Always ride carefully.

Warm weather of yesterday was the "best news of the day" to William H. Dunlap, director of streets, he stated during council meeting. Dunlap said that it has been a period of years since the ground remained as wet as this year. He said that the ash pile was reduced to nothing and it was necessary to secure gravel to place on thoroughfares.

Should the warm weather continue the ground will "dry out" and it may be possible for the city and WPA to get an early start on city projects to be put through with WPA labor. The city plans a big paving program. Already a start has been made on the North Mercer street-Euclid avenue storm sewer and the paving of Park avenue.

Petty crime jumps from one thing to another. About a week ago the police received almost nightly a report of fog lights being removed from automobiles. During the weekend they received several complaints of gasoline being drained from automobiles.

There now are on the police force three men who have had an active career in the boxing ring. They are Traffic Commissioner Thomas Jones, Sergeant James P. Steiner and Thomas Farrow. The latter was named to a temporary position by Mayor Charles E. McGrath last week.

More than one ton and a half in nickels have been deposited in parking meters since the meters were installed last August, according to City Treasurer C. C. McKibben who said approximately 260,000 nickels were paid by autoists for the legal right to park. Each $2.00 worth of nickels weighs approximately one-half pound. According to McKibben, the 260,000 nickels would weight about 3,250 pounds. Nickels were being collected today from the meters.

Dr. William L. Steen, health officer for the city, today reported receipt of reports showing 28 cases of new contagion during the period of March 16-21 inclusive. Of the total the contagion was listed as follows: Scarlet fever, 6; measles, 13; mumps, 9.

Photograph of Jumbo being "primed" for his spring and summer appearance recalls that only recently an advance agent for a circus appeared at the office of Mayor Charles E. McGrath and requested a permit. When he was told that the city could not permit a circus to set down on Croton avenue extension the agent moved on. However, it is likely that within the near future other circus advance agents will be here. No doubt other grounds will be available.

Grass is beginning to perk upward on the north side of the old post office building, soon to be the site of the library. It would be an idea to plant grass seed on whatever ground is available around the building.

From the American Red Cross, national headquarters, Washington, D. C., comes the information that plans are in progress for the training in Red Cross first aid of all members of the Pennsylvania motor police. Some 300 students at the Myerstown police training school have recently completed their standard and advanced first aid training, and arrangements have been completed for similar courses of instruction for the new recruits of the school.

It is the desire of the Pennsylvania motor police that all members of the motor police throughout the state enroll for the standard and advanced courses with authorized Red Cross first aid instructors. The New Castle chapter is cooperating in this training program for the motor police and classes may be formed very soon.

Eventually it is the hope of the Red Cross that these sub-stations throughout the state will be authorized Red Cross emergency first aid highway stations. The highway first aid stations is one of the newer programs carried on by the Red Cross, and very shortly the New Castle chapter will have several of these stations in danger zones on nearby highways.

Annual Service Of Lenten Music At Trinity Church

Senior Choir Will Present Program At 8 O'clock Wednesday Night

The Senior choir will present its annual service of lenten music tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Trinity church as part of the devotion of the holy season. In former years one of the cantatas has been selected and sung. This year an experiment is tried, a new method is being followed. It is to take selections from different composers, thereby learning how several artists have treated the great theme of Christ's passion, and thus getting a better understanding of it.

The program prepared under the leadership of Miss Isabel T. Johnson, is as follows:

Prelude, "Gethsemane," Otto Malling.

Processional, Hymn 135, "Jesus, and Shall It Ever Be," Henry K. Oliver.

Soprano solo and chorus, "Another Temple Waits Thee, Lord Devine," from "Olivet to Calvary" by J. H. Maunder. Soloist, Miss Nellie Ingram.

'Faculty Clinic' To Aid Students

Muhlenberg College Of Allentown Has Unique System This Semester

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 22.—Faculty clinics to aid students whose grades are below average have been established at Muhlenberg college this semester by President Levering Tyson.

Under the new system, unique among liberal arts colleges, all members of the faculty are called into consultation at the end of each semester to study the complete records of all students who are deficient in one or more courses. The record of the student's work is projected on a screen and comments on his attitude in class, his reaction to the work, his personnel record and other factors in his college life are made by his professors and by members of the administration.

Those comments, noted in shorthand, are placed on cards that are given to the faculty advisers of the respective students who are then called for individual interviews and asked their own reasons for the deficiencies. Opinions of the faculty and student are then correlated in an effort to solve the problems.

Higher grades at the end of the first rating period of the second semester were evident, Dr. Tyson and and Registrar Harry A. Benfer said in commenting on the new personnel program.

Of interest is the clay modeling done by Grade 6 scholars taught by Miss Carlen at Oak street school.

Models of animals, bowls, candle sticks, etc., are first made in clay and cast in paper mache. The method of applying the paper mache, is by soaking small pieces of newspapers and paper toweling in water, then in flour paste, then paper placed on clay layer by layer and allowed to dry. Then the paper mache is split and the clay taken out, and again closed up with paper tape. The models are afterwards painted and otherwise decorated.

Two More Quarter-Final Games Tonight

Semi-Finals To Be Played On Wednesday Nite

Universals To Meet Castles In First Game At 7 O'Clock Tonight

N. Y. A.-GERSONS TANGLE IN SECOND

Two more quarter-final games will be played in the City-County championship basketball tourney at Washington High gym tonight. There will also be a consolation game. The first game will start at 7 o'clock and will have the Castles meeting the fast Universal A. A. team.

The second game will find the N. Y. A. boys opposed to the fast stepping Gersons. The third game, a consolation affair will put the Shelby Tube team into the arena with the K. Pulaski quintet.

Castles Favored

The Castles led by "Ducky" Cunningh will be slight favorites to cop the game tonight with the Universal A. A. owing to their great stand the other night in the first round when they upset a strong well balanced K. Pulaski team. The Universal boys will have to watch this Mike Covelli the Castle star for ward. He looked real good last week in the first round match. So will they have to watch "Domey" Covelli former New Castle High star. Bill King is a tower of strength to the Castles at center.

On the Universal lineup the Castles had better keep an eye peeled for Archie Ridley, Pat Patterson and Dick Thompson, the latter was high point man in the victory over the Princeton team. The Pottery boys have a smooth working outfit and they will give the Castles a lot of trouble.

N. Y. A. Vs. Gersons

The N. Y. A. and Gerson game should be the feature on the night's card, as there is a lot of friendly rivalry between the two teams. The Gersons will have those well known stars such as Carik, Wainio, Dutkin, Strausbaugh, Carey and others in the lineup and they really are the tourney "dark-horses."

In the N. Y. A. lineup will be the Ostrosky brothers, Deep, the boy who almost single handed defeated the Bombers the other night. Also, Nickie Ross a clever ball handler.

Shelby Vs. Pulaskis

The consolation game will have the K. Pulaski team against the Shelby Tube team of Ellwood City, the team that almost tripped the Falcons in the first round. The Oaklanders believe that they can give the Shelby sharp shooters some real competition tonight under the coaching of Johnny Slosernick. This should be a humdinger of an attraction. The fans have been clamoring for another glimpse of this Shelby team.

The tourney has been a big success to date and a nice sum is going to be realized for the Croton band boys. The price in case you missed it before is 15 cents per ticket for adults and 10 cents for children.

Following are the probable lineups:

Universals		Castles

Referee, Wallace; Umpire, Cowmeadow.

Falcons-Keys Play Tonight

Falcons Will Play Famous Works Accounting Team Of Youngstown

KEYSTONES WILL MEET ROCHESTER

Miller avenue will be thronged tonight with basketball fans as they wend their way to the Falcon hall to watch two of the biggest attractions of the year at the popular court. In the first game the Keystone A. C. will meet the Rochester Barnetts in a Beaver Valley semi-pro league game. This game will start at 7.30 o'clock. In the second game the Polish Falcons will tangle with the famous Works Accounting team of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube, state industrial champions in Ohio.

Sweeney In Lineup

Included in the Youngstown lineup will be Ray Sweeney and Swede Hunneke, former Westminster College stars, also Ray Rowney one of the best semi-pro basketball players in the state of Ohio. The Falcons will have their hands full with this great quintet from the looks of things.

Coach Henry Kozela will try to master his strongest lineup for the battle that will no doubt take place. The Falcons smarting under the walloping handed them last night by Epworth will be fighting made tonight and may do a little dope bucket upsetting themselves.

Keystones To Play

The Keystones will also have a tough battle on hands when the Rochesters come here to try and retain first place in the Beaver Valley league. A victory for the Venditto-men will mean a deadlock for the second-half of the season. A great game is anticipated.

Coach Andy "Coots" Venditto will try to have Captain Paul Morrison and Joe Kelley back in the lineup tonight. Morrison was missing in the game last night with East Brook. This is one of the most important games of the year for the Keys and they want revenge for the setbacks already given them by the Barnetts.

Stars In Lineup

It will be a night of nights in basketball at the Falcon Hall and there will no doubt be a tremendous crowd on hand to see this great Youngstown team in action. The Works Accounting team had to defeat the following teams to win the state industrial crown at Columbus, Ohio—Zanesville 55 to 46, Toledo Pure Oils 45 to 30, and the Zanesville Refiners 51 to 40. Rowney and Sweeney were picked as the All-Tournament forwards. The Accounting team also won the Mahoning Valley championship, and were runnersup in the Boardman tourney.

Following are the probable lineups:

Polish Falcons		Youngstown
H. Koszela	F	Sweeny
G. Kendra	F	Rowney
Ryglinski	C	Osgood
Reiber	G	Simko
Sniezek	G	Hunneke

New Castle Rifle Club Wins Over McDonald By Higher Offhand Score

On the coming Friday night, at the Cathedral range, the New Castle Rifle Club will shoot against a team from Warren, Ohio.

Last Friday the locals won over McDonald, O., by virtue of a higher offhand score. The teams had tied at 945.

Finley was high for New Castle with 191. R. Waddington, O. Cramer and H. Hunter, who haven't been out to the shoots so regularly, were out Friday night and gave the boys a few pointers on the handling of shooting irons. R. Pugh, shooting in tough luck, dropped four points from his usual score and still had enough to place fourth on the team. All in all it was a fine rifle match, closely contested.

New Castle - 945. C. Finley 191; R. Waddington 190; O. Cramer 189; R. Pugh 188; H. Hunter 187.

Epworth Defeats Falcons, Keystones Upset East Brook

Church League Champs Stage Biggest Upset Of City-County Tourney, 32-12

Keystones Hard Pressed To Take East Brook 42-32 To Enter Semi-Finals

Playing a smart, steady brand of basketball in every period the Epworth M. E. team, New Castle Church league champions, made a determined bid for the City-County title last night at Washington High by handing the Polish Falcons, the tourney favorites, a 32 to 12 shellacking. The Epworth team now enters the semi-finals.

The Keystone A. C. advanced to the semi-finals by taking the measure of a hard fighting East Brook A. A. team 42 to 32. In the consolation game the Mahoning A. A. topped Princeton 24 to 22.

The City-County dope bucket was kicked around for fare-the-well last night as the Epworth M. E. team under Coach Jack Llewellyn gave the Falcs a basketball lesson in clever guarding. So close did the Epworths watch the Falcs that the latter team had but three field goals very unusual for this high scoring quintet.

Epworth Takes Lead

It was apparent in the first period that Epworth intended to carry the fight to the Falcons when they sped out in front 8 to 1 as the whistle ended the first stanza. The end of the first half and the fans were satisfied that Epworth meant business by holding a 16 to 3 lead. Nary a field goal did the Falcons get in the first period, and only one, that by Eddie "Kash" Kozsola in the second period. The Epworths on the other hand, led by Jimmy Dart and Elmer Wainio, piled in the points with painful monotony, to the Falc rooters.

Even the intermission failed to snap the Falcons out of their coma, and in the third session the Llewellyn coach machine piled in seven more points and held the Falcs to four to take a 23 to 7 lead at the end of the chapter. In the fourth and final period the Epworthians made nine more points and gave the Falcons six points. Nahas with six points, Wainio with seven and Dart with eight, led the scoring attack for the Epworth team.

Three Field Goals

Kwolek, Sniezek and Eddie Koszela had the only three field goals that the Falcs could master. In fouls the Falcs made 6 out of 10 and Epworth made 10 out of 13 for a fine average. Epworth used a zone defense and man for man part of the time and had the Falcons worried to death. Ryglinski was put out of the game in the first half for an infraction of the rules. This seemed to unnerve the Falcons.

Epworth M. E., conquerors of Bessemer and the Falcons, are advanced to the semi-finals on Wednesday night and are given a good chance to take the tourney title.

Keystones Win Game

Paced by Victor "Blackie" Nocera, the former New Castle high star, who had 21 points, the Keystone A. C. handed the clever East Brook team a 42 to 32 setback last night in the other tourney game, to enter the semi-finals on Wednesday night.

The first period was close with the Keys under Coach Andy Venditto out in the lead 6 and 5. The half found the Keys with a lead of 16 to 14, and East Brook looked better as the game progressed. Scotia with three field goals and a foul led the scoring attack for the Brookers in the first half, while Kendall banged in a pair of field goals. For the Keys the work of Blackie Nocera with five buckets, was by far the best. Cooper had a pair of double-deckers in the first half.

Keys Look Better

Coach Venditto gave the Keys a stern lesson at the half and when they came back for the third stanza it was a different team and a different ball game altogether. The Keys tightened up their defense and gave the East Brooks but three points in the third inning while they piled in seven points to go ahead as the third period closed 23 to 17.

In the fourth and final period the Vendittomen really turned on the heat and scored points almost at will, it seemed, led again by Nocera and Cooper. The Keys made 19 points and gave the East Brookians 25 points. Nocera and Cooper were the Key standouts with 34 of the points between them.

It looks as if the Keys will be one of the finalist teams and a Keystone-Epworth game will produce some real thrills. Although there is the Castles, Universals, Gersons and N. Y. A. left yet.

Mahoning A. A. Wins

The Mahoning A. A. team led by Rocco Tomaiello and Skippy Russo and aided no end by Coach Austin

Pirates Hand Cubs Licking

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, March 22—The Chicago Cubs still were a trifle dazed as they made ready to take the diamond today against their local colleagues, the White Sox. A 13 to 4 whipping administered by the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday just about smashed the brilliance the Cubs had shown to date in exhibitions, and showed Manager Charley Grimm that he still has some mound problems to solve.

OAKLAND WINS, 41-23

In a fast floor game, the Oakland quintet rolled up a 41-23 victory over the Fantastics. At half time, the count was deadlocked. J. Pilch, E. Ryczaj and Mateja were outstanding for the winners. This was the ninth straight victory for the Oaklanders who now claim the Junior title.

More American movies were shown in France last year than in 1936.

Titans Preparing For Spring Sports

Tennis And Golf Players Getting Ready For Season's Competition

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, March 22—Spring sports will make their debut this week at Westminster college, when Titan racket-wielders and linksmen begin training for action against district colleges.

This year, Westminster will miss diminutive Bobby Grier, Pittsburgh, who for four years was number 1 man on Titan tennis teams. Four Titan racqueteers, in addition to Grier, will be missing this year: Elliott, Brown, Maxwell and Brinkerhoff. Ken Grubb, Youngstown; Earl Wright, Bellevue, Ralph McGeoch, Cambridge, N. Y.; and Robert Jamison, New Castle, should furnish a nucleus for a top tennis squad. Several freshmen candidates are out, including Dick Kennedy, Butler City champ, and Harry Glenn, Wilkinsburg high letterman.

The Titan 1938 tennis schedule is April 28, Grove City, away; May 7, Waynesburg, at home; May 9, Geneva at Beaver Falls; May 12, Geneva at home; May 13, Youngstown, away; May 17, Allegheny at home; May 18, Waynesburg at home; May 21, Grove City at home; and May 26, Youngstown at home. Matches are being arranged with Slippery Rock, Muskingum, and W. and J.

The Titan golfers, headed by Captain Joe Andrews, Pittsburgh, have four dates on a partially-filled schedule: May 4, Waynesburg at home; May 5, Grove City away; May 18, Waynesburg away; and May 24, Grove City at home.

Kirppus To Play Westminster Five

Booster Game Thursday Evening On George Washington Junior Floor

One of the most colorful basketball attractions of the season is carded for the George Washington junior high floor, Thursday evening, when the Westminster Collegians composed of Westminster college aces, battle the Kirppus quintet, in a booster game.

Half of the proceeds will be turned over to the committee in charge of the fund being raised to purchase uniforms for the Croton school band, while the other half of the gate will be used by the Kirppus cagers for their week-end trip in New York, where they will represent the Penn-Ohio district in the National Turnish-American basketball tournament. Appearing on the Westminster lineup will be such well known floor aerials. Demo, Backus, Krivosh, Miller, Gilliland, Grubb and Patton. A preliminary game will also be played, it was announced.

Competing in the coming tournament is not a new venture for the locals who copped the coveted laurels in Detroit, Michigan, in 1937. The Kirppus hoopsters feel confident of winning the title for the second consecutive year. Competition is unusually keen in the event. The Kirppus starting lineup will be selected from the following rosters: Joe Kelley, Paul Morrison, Pop Adams, Francis Wainio, Elmer Wainio, John Carik, Chunk Durkin, Everett Larmon, Hank Reed and Coach Matson. The locals will make their first appearance in the tournament Saturday evening.

Local basketball fans who missed watching the Westminster Titans in action will have a golden opportunity to see the smooth clicking Lawrence Countians who rank with the outstanding college combinations in the country.

Place Of Meeting Has Been Changed For East Brook A. A.

Mrs. Omar Fink, secretary of the East Brook A. A. announced today that the meeting of the organization set for Thursday night of this week, will be held at the home of Frank B. Waddington, instead of the Everett Kennedy home as originally announced.

The starting time of the meeting will be 8 o'clock. Plans will be discussed for another big banquet for the girls and boys basketball teams at East Brook High.

A death in the Kennedy family circle caused the change in meeting places.

Three Games In Tourney At 'Y'

House-Church League Tourney Starts, First Presbyterians, First M. E. Win

BUFFALO GERMANS TRIP HIGHLAND U. P.

Three games were played at the "Y" court last night in the opening of the House-Church Class A tourney. There will be three more games on Wednesday night.

In the first game last night the First Presbyterians led by the McCormick brothers with 22 points between them, handed the Second U. P. team a 30 to 23 defeat. McKee paced the County Line Sprecters.

The second game was a close affair with the Buffalo Germans of the House league barely able to get a 19 to 14 nod over the Highland U. P. team. Esposito and Johns were the best for their respective teams.

The third and final game on the night's program found the Central Presbyterians being shoved out of the First M. E. team by the score of 29 to 28 in a thriller for rooters. Jackson, Sadler, Thompson, and Miles did the bulk of the scoring.

Rambling Around In Local Sports World

Westminster college on parade . . . Westminster college's Titan basketball teams annually rank with the best of them . . . and here's the reason . . . since 1904 the Lawrence county institution has been producing winning combinations . . . in '04 Herb Lambie, now coach at Mt. Lebanon high, piloted the Titans to 13 wins against a lone defeat . . . in 1907 Westminster crashed through with seven victories and one loss . . . 1908 saw the abolishment of intercollegiate basketball, once sport made a reappearance in 1917 as a sport played on foreign hardwoods only due to gymnasium facilities at the school . . . in 1918 the Titans rolled up eight triumphs against six defeats . . . then a new gymnasium was erected and the local institution commenced to forge ahead during 1921 to 1926 . . . John Lawther, now ranked among the greatest basketball tutors in the land, became coach in the middle of the 1925-26 season . . . in that year Duquesne polished off the Westminster hoopsters, 37-12, for the last overwhelming defeat suffered by Titan quintets.

Westmlusterizing a bit more . . . the 1927 Westminster cagers, led by Tudor Lewis, an all-district guard, won 10 and lost 5 . . . in that year substitutes Delahunty, now coach at Hickory high, and O'Donovan, appeared at frequent intervals . . . the 1928 campaign saw Duquesne take a 43-18 drubbing on the Duke lair . . . Captain Lewis and the conference champs enjoyed a successful season, winning 17 and dropping three . . . the Titans were crowned district titlists in '29, garnering 15 wins against a pair of losses . . . 14 victories and two losses netted Westminster the district championship the following year . . . the Blue and White clad combination, under Coach Lawrence Harrison, in 1931, was good enough to win 15, dropping a lone engagement . . . after a year at Long Island John Lawther returned to the Westminster camp in 1932 . . . that season saw Bud Brownlee forge to the top as the nation's leading scorer, grabbing 380 markers in 25 tussles . . . Phil Rice graced the All-Tri-State team and Kocheran, Stijander and Brownlee were placed on all-conference clubs . . . the '33 season meant 18 more victories against six defeats for Westminster . . . the 1934 combination was paced by Wes Bennett, one of Westminster's greatest floor men . . . in 26 starts Westminster copped 22 wins; also an extra session triumph over the famous Duquesne university boys . . . by grabbing 19 victories out of 21 battles the Westminster team of 1935 was ranked with the five greatest teams in the East . . . Bennett, in that year, was selected as the most valuable floor man to play at Madison Square Garden, New York . . . the Blue and White jerseyed lads claimed the mythical conference pennant in 1936, with 20 wins in 25 attempts . . . Bennett finished his college basketball career, winding up with 1,110 markers . . . George Roark was pilot in 1937 and his team copped 14 out of 21 tilts . . . with John Krivosh and Tom Patton performing brilliantly this season, the Lawrence countians hung up 15 victories against five losses . . . victories were scored against Villanova, Pittsburgh, Waynesburg and W and J. . . . although few local residents realize it, Westminster college teams are ranged as "tops" throughout the land of basketball . . . championship basketball has become a tradition . . . Titan courtmen have dropped only three battles on their home floor in four years.

The tee, hee, hee department . . . grabbing a paper recently, a Dartmouth university fan read that Coach Jeff Tesreau needed pitchers for his 1938 team . . . immediately the fan sent Tesreau this telegram: . . . "saw in the papers that you needed a pitcher for your team this year . . . sending three to you for approval" . . . two days later the pitchers arrived, two of glass and one of crockery.

This and that in sportsland . . . Mrs. Stewart Iglehart, wife of the famous polo star, and herself considered the best woman polo player in the country, is the only female permitted to play on the Midwick club field . . . Bones Hamilton, Stanford's former star blocking half, now is alumni secretary for his alma mater and averages at least one speech a day . . . Gery Nugent, president of the Phillies, was decorated twice for bravery during the World War . . . Slats Wyrick, U. C. L. A. star tackle, works between classes as a movie stand-in in a Hollywood studio . . . a good six-day bike rider seldom earns less than $5,000 a year, but Frano Georgetti averaged about $35,000 per for five years.

THE TUTTS — By Crawford Young

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER

Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 22.—Lou Gehrig picks the Cleveland Indians as the dark horse of the race...because Oscar Vitt has been "cleaning out the cliques", and the Indians have fine material....All the boys have been guessing since Connie Mack expressed the belief a surprise team would win the American league pennant....if the Indians won, it would be a surprise for everybody but me....I've been picking them the last four years...it seems longer than that.

When Gehrig opens the season he will be playing in his 2000th game as a Yankee, and his 1966th straight game....Satch still has the feeling that he'll play in 2500 straight....if he plays continually, he will reach his goal in mid-season of 1941....

One of the most effective points Tom Meany brought out in his Saturday Evepost piece calling the National a bush league was the fact that so many American league discards go over big in the National...take Leo (Lippy) Durocher for instance...Durocher was with the Yankees back in 1928, and was all through in the American league several years ago ...now he is shortstop of the Brooklyn Nationals, and is a $12,000 man ...Bill Terry says the reason why so many rate the American league ahead of the National is the Yankees...mebbe so, mebbe so, but how about the All-Star game?

Those Dodgers are letting themselves in for it this year...Executive Leland Stanford MacPhail has ordained uniforms of crinkly Palm Beach material for extra hot days (St. Louis) and for the second games of double bills....the next step?...can it be shorts?...Whoops! ...One of the qualities you like about Oscar Vitt is his readiness to correct mistakes...that $500 fine, f'r instance, he was going to plaster on any Injun caught drinking with Rollie Hemsley...it was one of the worst edicts a manager ever put out ...it placed the team in a position of shunning Rollie and made the guy an outcast and a "loner"...no wonder he busted training regulations wide open...now Old Os' has reversed himself completely, asking the boys to have a beer with the catcher whenever they feel the urge.

Here's one for the book: movies of their deliveries are being used in an effort to cure two Cub pitchers of wildness....They're Tarzan Parmelee and Clay (Borneo) Bryant....Parmelee claims he has been helped, the pictures revealing a jerky motion which put him off stride....Sep Palm thinks Greyhound will trot a mile in 1:55 this year...Sep says the gray gelding wasn't doing his best when he broke Peter Manning's 15-year-old record last summer...Mel Harder offers some interesting remarks comparing the ball used in the American league with the pellet adopted by the National...the cover of the National is thicker and looser and the seams are higher than the American's...this gives a pitcher a better chance to break a curve...when a new ball is thrown into the game in the American league, a pitcher can't curve it...this is information the hitters should be glad to hear...thus, though official tests reveal there is no difference in the two balls as far as degree of bounce is concerned, the National ball certainly gives a pitcher a break.

* * *

Add to the ranks of footballers and track stars trying to become ballplayers a rassler...he is John Doehring, and he bobbed up in the training camp of the Reds....Bill McKechnie took a look, liked the way he hit and threw, and gave the grappler a job...with Columbia, in the Sally league.

News Briefs From City Hall

Steven Bender, Fisher Block, South Jefferson street and Long avenue, reported to police last night he parked his auto at the corner of those thoroughfares and someone stole a spare tire from the car.

Pleasant weather which has permitted youths to stay out of doors resulted in reports to the annoyance of residents in some sections. One report said they were on the New Castle hospital lawn which might injure the grass and another said they were too active in the 500 block of Pearson street and also at the corner of Ray and Oak Sts. Boys were also alleged to have broken a window of the Italian Christian church, Taylor street.

Persons who imbibe too freely and then solicit money from passers-by and congregate in doorways and expectorate may expect arrest and perhaps a "salty sentence." Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell issued notice to policemen today to break up such practices.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath today ordered from the city one Edward Wilson, who claims to have been a former New York state policeman and a guard at Sing Sing. Some time ago he came here and applied for social security, although he had not been employed here. Instead he had been employed at Erie. Chief of detectives Ray Showalter took Wilson into custody as a suspicious character some days ago and told Wilson to leave the city after hearing his story. Yesterday Wilson returned here, Showalter said, and knowing he was not a bonifide resident, took him before the mayor. The latter investigated the case and communicated with social security authorities who promised to have his case transferred to Erie authorities and Wilson was released. Mayor McGrath told Wilson that what work was here would be probably given first to citizens of New Castle and that the best plan for anyone in his situation would be to stay in his home town.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath today refused to issue a peddler's license to an applicant from out-of-the-city. The mayor said the city has its own peddlers.

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell, who rarely misses a day from his office, was reported indisposed today during which time his duties were performed by Chief of detectives Ray Showalter.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

It might have been said last night.

There are persons who constantly clamor.

They complain of opression, speculation and pernicious influence of accumulated wealth.

They cry out loudly against all banks and corporations and all means by which small capitalists become united in order to produce important and beneficial results.

They carry on mad hostility against established institutions.

They would choke the fountain of industry and dry all streams.

In a country of unbounded liberty, they clamor against oppression.

In a country of perfect equality, they would move heaven and earth against privilege and monopoly.

In a country where property is more evenly divided than anywhere else, they rend the air shouting agrarian doctrines.

In a country where wages of labor are high beyond parallel, they would teach the laborer he is but an oppressed slave.

Sir, what can such men want? What do they mean? They want nothing, sir, but to enjoy the fruits of another man's labor.

They can mean nothing but disturbance and disorder, diffusion of corrupt principles and the distruction of the moral sentiments and moral habits of society.

—From a speech by Daniel Webster in the United States Senate in 1838.

* * *

The above speech or portion of speech caught our eye and we thought maybe you would enjoy reading it too . . . how true it is of todays' way of things . . . history must repeat.

* * *

The city-county basketball tournament is going along in very fine shape . . . the crowds have been very satisfactory and the games very interesting . . . tonight three more games will be played and then Wednesday night the Semi-finals . . . what teams will go to the finals next Monday night . . . there have been some upsets and there might be another . . . you never can tell . . . why not go up tonight and see for yourself.

Leaders Slip In Early Trading During Morning—Smelting Shows Recovery

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 22—The stock market turned downward today with leaders slipping a point or more.

Steels, motors, rails and oils led the reaction, which quickly spread throughout the list.

An early feature was the recovery of about 2 points each in Howe Sound, U. S. Smelting and American Smelting, as President Cardenas of Mexico stated last week's expropriation of oil properties would not be extended to other industries in Mexico.

Fractional gains in Bethlehem and U. S. Steel were converted into losses of about a point in the steels, Chrysler in the motors turned in a similar performance, while General Motors dipped almost a point.

Case dropped 2 in the farm implements, Johns-Manville in the building section and DuPont in the chemicals slightly more, and Coca Cola almost 3.

Chesapeake & Ohio lost a point to a new low in a weak market for carriers. Santa Fe also dropped a point, closely followed by Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Great Northern and Union Pacific.

Final Tribute To R. C. Stiefel, Sr.

Funeral Service For Widely Mourned Leader Of City Held Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, March 22.—Ellwood City's most prominent and highly respected resident, R. C. Stiefel, Sr., whose death occurred unexpected last Tuesday evening at his winter home, in St. Petersburg, Fla., was laid to rest on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home, in Pittsburgh Circle and Fountain avenue.

The simple, appropriate rites were made impressive by the presence of hundreds of friends and associates from every station of life who completely filled the home, the spacious lawn and the sidewalks. Rev. A. M. Stevenson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, the officiating minister, spoke words of memory, appreciation and comfort, which were distinctly carried to the large assemblage by a loud speaking system.

The service was uniform throughout in its simplicity and strength, and as it came to a close there was a benediction upon it all—a benediction befitting such a service for Mr. Stiefel.

Further bearing testimony to the esteem and high place of honor held by Mr. Stiefel were a great number of elaborate floral tributes, several coming from friends and associates in European countries.

The Aetna Standard Engineering company and all the local stores and other places of business closed for the occasion.

Honorary pallbearers, W. R. Johnston, Harold Seidel, Dr. H. E. Helling, Prof. J. Devie, H. W. Smith, W. R. Thompsen, Thomas L. Haines, Arthur Roeloff, J. A. Evans and Frank Krause, formed a guard of honor on either side of the walk as the casket was carried from the home.

Active pallbearers were: R. W. Thompson, George Pugh, Norman F. Rearic, Herbert Davis, Paul R. Nickum, J. W. Offutt, Jr., Randall B. Luke and C. W. Jackson.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

CONSIDER SOIL NEEDS IN BUYING FERTILIZER

Care should be exercised in the selection of fertilizers so that the most needed materials will be purchased.

Fertilizer purchases should supply most of the nitrogen forms of plant food. Clover sods and manure supply large amounts of nitrogen but neither furnishes much phosphorus and potash. Well-rotted manure contains an abundance of potash. It is well to bear this in mind to avoid buying the unnecessary fertilizer. However, failure to use any fertilizer generally means a poorer start, later maturity, lower yield, and poor economy.

Nitrogen stimulates quick growth in excess, it may cause delayed ripening and excessive vine growth in potatoes. Early planted crops may need some nitrogen in the fertilizer to promote growth before warm weather makes soil and manurial nitrogen available. In a late, wet or cold spring some nitrogen in the planter may give corn a better start. On good land it has little or no effect on the size of the crop. Based on its value as fertilizer, the total nitrogen removed by a good corn crop would cost $15 to $20 per acre.

Phosphoric acid is doubtless responsible for most and very often all of the effect of fertilizer applications since practically all soils are deficient in available phosphorus. It is least caustic and the safest to use with seed. When applied in the row or drill it stimulates root and top growth, fastens ripening, and increases yields. Phosphate on seeded grain helps the clover following.

Potash soon becomes deficient in an available form on unmanured land. Crops do not thrive on potash-deficient soils; stalks may be weak and they are more susceptible to certain diseases. Sandy soils and those of glacial origin are most responsive to potash.

Magnesia, manganese, boron and other so-called rarer elements are seldom seriously deficient in Pennsylvania soils. Manure supplies them. Additional applications usually prove beneficial only on sandy soils when no manure is used. Fertilizing materials offered the farmer seeking the miraculous are often of little value or are old fertilizers with new names.

Fertilizer will not take the place of lime on a sour soil. Lime may be needed more than plant food but generally both are required. It seldom pays to attempt to supply lime with plant food, usually not enough is furnished to do much good and the cost is too high.

APPLE TREES NEED PROPER POLLINATION

Economical fruit production demands annual bearing in orchards.

Apple growers can accomplish this best by providing at planting time for proper pollination in large blocks of one or two varieties. Where this provision was neglected at planting time, emergency measures must be employed to correct the deficiency.

Top-working one tree in five to a good pollinator is the best emergency method. It will eventually provide proper pollination every year.

Where neither of these provisions have been made, bouquets must be placed in every fourth or fifth tree. Growers have found that Jonathan, Red Delicious, Grimes Golden, McIntosh, Golden Delicious, Gano and Ben Davis are the most satisfactory pollinators for our standard varieties.

If a grower has trees of these varieties and plans to use bouquets he should leave enough of these trees unpruned or lightly pruned now so that there will be plenty of material to provide bouquets for use in the trees needing pollination.

GIVE BROOD MARES SPECIAL CARE NOW

Are you keeping a brood mare or two this year? Then perhaps you will be interested in knowing that less than 60 per cent of the mares bred each year produce living foals. This loss is largely due to improper feeding, care, and management of the brood mares.

Idleness is the bane of horse breeding. Working mares are more certain to produce good foals, but judgment must be used in working them. Avoid too hard pulls, overexertion and backing heavy loads. When not working, the mare is best cared for by having the run of a pasture. The work of a mare should be lightened as foaling time approaches, but many cases are on record where mares were worked up to the day of foaling with no ill effects.

It is easier to feed a working brood mare than an idle one. A well-balanced ration is essential. An abundance of good feed is especially needed by immature pregnant mares and pregnant mares sucking foals. In addition to the demand from the developing fetus, there is the draft of the mother in one case and for milk secretion in the other. Feeds should be free from dust, mold, or decay. These might cause abortion. The bowels must be kept active through proper use of such feeds as wheat, bran, oil meal, or good pasture.

GOOD TIME NOW TO ENRICH FINE TURFS

Late winter is a good time to fertilize turf. By getting this odious job out of the way now warm days of spring may be devoted to more pleasurable tasks.

Fertilizing on top of a light snow is a good practice. One is more likely to get a uniform distribution since the dark material on the snow shows up better than on the winter-brown grass. There is no loss of fertilizer when the snow melts unless the ground is bare and the slope steep. Very little material is lost from sod-covered soil.

Select a fertilizer high in phosphorus since this element is one of the limiting factors in turf production in Lawrence county. Hundreds of lawn owners as well as managers of athletic fields, golf courses, and cemeteries have obtained good results from an agricultural 4-12-4 fertilizer. A 6-12-6 analysis is also good or one may select a 5-12-3 or a 5-10-5. In rural sections one may mix three bushels of clean chicken droppings with one bushel of 20 per cent superphosphate for the lawn fertilizer. Any of these materials may be used at the rate of 25 to 30 pounds to 1,000 square feet.

Where lime is needed, it should be applied using 50 to 75 pounds of ground limestone or 40 to 60 pounds of hydrated lime to 1,000 square feet. If the need for lime is doubtful, a soil test should be made.

TIME TO BEGIN HOME BEAUTIFICATION WORK

Persons who derive pleasure from beautifying their home grounds, now that March has rolled around again, can find many things to do in preparation for the coming season.

Clean up the yard and garden in preparation for the rush of spring work. Have all rubbish hauled away.

See that garden tools are clean and sharp in readiness for spring use.

Clean bird houses and put up new ones so that they will be ready when the birds return from the south.

Remove the mulches from snowdrops and crocuses so that the shoots can come through. Tulips, daffodils, and other bulbs should be kept lightly covered to keep the sun off the plants while they are covered.

If you are not doing so, begin now to keep a garden record book. Record the dates of sowing seed, planting and transplanting for each variety. Note the time of bloom of each annual, perennial, and shrub. Keep a record of where and when plants and seeds were purchased and the results obtained. Such a record book, kept over a period of years, is invaluable.

Seeds of many annuals may be sown in the coldframe at the end of this month. They should be ready to transplant when danger of frost is over.

Bring some branches of forsythia, pussy willow and flowering quince into the house to force. This is done just as the buds are beginning to swell.

Charcoal in the water in jars where spring blossoms are being forced will help keep the water sweet.

Repair and repaint trellises before vines have begun to grow. Fences, lattice work, and garden furniture should also be repaired and repainted.

If any trees, shrubs, or evergreens have been heaved by freezing and thawing during the winter, reset them now, or at least firm the soil around the roots. It is particularly necessary to check those which were planted last fall. See that stakes and guy wires are secure.

The top mulch of evergreen boughs, leaves, or straw should be removed from roses during this month. Spray the plants with bordeaux mixture or lime-sulphur on the first warm, sunny day.

TWIN FABRICS POPULAR FOR SPRING ENSEMBLES

Most women who view the new woolens are stimulated to begin their spring sewing. It adds interest to know that many of these lovely fabrics are designed and woven in America.

Each spring brings brighter, gayer colors to follow the winter's more somber shades, states Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension worker for Lawrence county.

Beginning with the neutral shades there are the warm "natural" shades, otherwise the soft tans.

The blue shades range from aqua or greenish blue, through the bright pure blue, which looks so well with black or white, to purplish blues. These purple blues and reds are especially new and popular this spring.

The greens are soft, tender shades such as we see in pale jade. Chartreuse, that yellow-green shade we see in nature in the spring, is to be found occasionally in clothing. It is not a color to be used in large amounts, Miss Vogle reminds.

Shades of rose are very popular this spring. The rust reds are new as spring colors, particularly the yellow-rust. Dark gray another neutral shade ends the list.

This spring we are impressed by the many twin fabrics designed for ensembles. Plaids in coats have the predominant color matched in a plain fabric for the skirt. In the same way checked and striped materials have their companion, plain fabrics.

Another "twin" is heavy fabric for a coat with matching sheer for the dress. In this case the contrast is in the texture—the coat fabric is rough and the dress has a smooth hard surface. Still another possibility is three shades of a color, each shade in both coat and dress weights.

These sheer woolens are very light in weight. Some are wrinkle-proof and dust repellant when makes them ideal for general wear and travel costumes.

VEGETABLES—SELECTION AND CARE

Room temperatures are very destructive to the vitamin C content of vegetables. They should be stored in a cool place when brought into the house, according to the extension nutrition and health specialists of Pennsylvania State College.

Young and fresh vegetables have a better flavor and a higher vitamin C content. Select those that are firm and free from undesirable blemishes.

USE OF COLORS STRESSED

"Children should be seen and not hurt." Let children wear vivid colors to help protect them from motorists, urge extension clothing specialists of Pennsylvania State College. Bright, colored scarfs sweaters and caps will make the children more conspicuous as they trudge along the highway.

State To Receive Additional Funds For Highway Work

About $5,434,356 To Become Available For State Projects On July 1

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—Under a decision by President Roosevelt, an additional $5,434,356 will become available to Pennsylvania on July first for Federal-aid highway projects.

This is the state's share of $125,000,000 for such projects throughout the nation appropriated by Congress last year. Under the law, the fund was apportioned to the states January first. President Roosevelt, however, was opposed to its expenditure upon the grounds of economy and wrote letters to the various state governors urging them not to use it.

In the face of increasing unemployment, however, the President has decided the money should be spent to make jobs, and his request to the governors has been withdrawn. That means Pennsylvania can at once submit to the Federal Bureau of Public Roads for approval projects in the Keystone State to be built with this money.

Study Reading By Use Of Pictures

Grade 2A Oak street pupils, Miss Rosenberg teaching, are studying reading by using vegetable pictures. The children cut pictures out of seed catalogues, off cans, magazines, etc., then copy them in crayon, with their name on sheets of paper, and then bound into book form. Later they are given a mixed up list of vegetables, flower and fruit names and instructed to check off the vegetables. This study also encourages children to eat more vegetables. A small box "garden" was on a window ledge, where lettuce was peeping up. A bean was growing in a glass jar of earth near to the side, so that the children could watch the process of growth.

BOSTON, Mass., March 22.—Cost of modernizing the S. S. Dorothy Bradford, excursion steamer, which plied between Boston and Provincetown for twenty-five summers, was so prohibitive the ship has been condemned. In her 25 seasons the Dorothy Bradford carried an estimated 1,000,000 passengers.

Genevans' Concert Set For Thursday

College Singers Appear In Geneva Hall Before 12-Day Tour

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, March 22.—Music lovers were informed today that Thursday evening, March 24, will be the date of the home concert of the Genevans in the college auditorium.

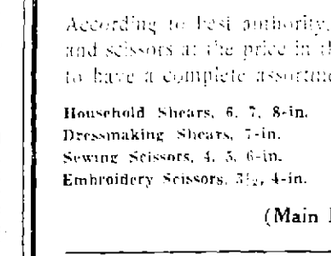

Due to efforts of the business managers, Miss Maxine Rhodes and Scott Bliss, the combined chorus of 45 voices—23 young women and 22 young men—is having a busy season and those who have heard them give fine reports of the beauty of their singing under the direction of Prof. Karl V. Gilbert, in charge of music at the college.

The chorus members will sing in the New Galilee U. P. church Friday evening, March 25, and early Monday, March 28, are to leave with President and Mrs. McLeod of Pearce and Prof. Gilbert where they will appear. During the trip of 12 days 10 programs will be presented.

CAR NOW CHICKEN COOP

(International News Service)

HILLSBORO, N. H., March 22.—Presented with several large roosters, the Rev. Herbert A. Cooper, of the Methodist Episcopal church had no place to keep them until he struck upon the idea of using his abandoned automobile left standing in the back yard. Removal of the cushions and construction of a wire fence made the automobile into a fair sort of chicken coop.
